Hensel Declares M'Carthy Charges "Malicious" Lies

'Too Much Brass' Protest Planned By Wis. Senator

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Asst. Secretary of Defense H. Hensel today denounced as "false, untrue and malicious" charges by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) that he tried to impede and discredit the Senate Investigations subcommittee in order to block an inquiry into Hensel's financial affairs.

Hensel invited a full public airing of his finances, but not during the McCarthy-Army hearing, and said McCarthy's own finances should get similar scrutiny.

Meanwhile, McCarthy said he will protest to the investigation subcommittee tomorrow "the wasteful spectacle" of a dozen or more Army officers forced under orders "to cool their heels" as spectators at a hearing involving alleged favors to a private. This was a reference to Pvt. G. David Schine, former McCarthy aide, whose military career is the center of the controversy.

These officers are needed for "the vital task of planning the nation's defense with a war threatening in Indochina," McCarthy said in a statement.

Ridgway In Attendance
Obviously, he said, such officers as Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Army chief of staff, two deputy chiefs of staff, the chief Army signal officer and "assorted colonels and majors" would not be there by their own choice.

Hensel branded as maliciously untrue McCarthy's accusation that he wanted to block the subcommittee's work in order to head off "an investigation of me by the subcommittee for misconduct and possible law violations."

McCarthy, in a statement commenting on Hensel's formal reply to the senator's charges, said:

"He inadvertently tipped the hand of those who have been smearing the smear attack upon my staff and disclosed the true purpose to be what I have stated it was since its inception—namely an attempt to road block all investigations of graft, corruption and communism and divert the committee down the side road of investigating itself."

McCarthy said it was "easy to understand" Hensel's "surprise, disappointment and consternation" that this Red minnow burlesque, which was started and is being masterminded by civilian Pentagon politicians, has not brought our committee to a complete standstill.

Hearings Will Resume

In announcing he would protest the presence of so many high ranking military officers when the radio televised hearings resume for the third day tomorrow (9:30 a.m. EST), McCarthy said the officers had been ordered by "few Pentagon civilians" to be present to strengthen the case against him.

Earlier two Republicans and two Democrats said the McCarthy-Army hearings were distracting the nation's attention from far more important matters, including the Indochina crisis.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) said in an interview he thinks the spectacle of McCarthy clashing with Secretary of the Army Stevens over favors allegedly sought in behalf of an Army private is "making the country look ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

Joining Smith in the criticism were Senators Humphrey (D-Minn.) Carlson (R-Kan.), and Ellender (D-La.). None is a member of the McCarthy subcommittee.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich.), a subcommittee member, disagreed. He said all seven members of the investigating group feel the charges bear warrant the amount of time and effort that is going into the investigation.

Tokyo Police Deny Woman Was Beaten

TOKYO, Monday, April 26 (AP)—U. S. authorities said today a decision would have to be made at "a very high level" after investigation of an American woman's complaint that a Japanese police handcuffed her and then beat her.

Japanese police deny there was a beating but say that Mrs. Jeanette Spink, of St. Louis, a civilian employee of the U. S. Army, had to be handcuffed because she resisted arrest over a minor traffic accident last Friday.

The differing versions are being studied by members of the U. S. Army Criminal Investigation Division.

An Army statement noted that U. S. military police were not called into the case until Mrs. Spink was held at a police station and that examination later showed she bore bruises, lacerations and scratches.

Gunman Fires On Bus

A bullet hole in the windshield of his bus is examined by James F. Roche, Deer Brothers Bus Company driver in Pittsburgh. He and two passengers narrowly escaped injury or death when a gunman fired two shots at the moving vehicle. The second slug struck a side window. Roche said he saw the gunman and a companion flee over a hill.

California Quake Causes Damage But No Casualties

WATSONVILLE, Calif., April 25 (AP)—Strong earthquake tremors damaged numerous buildings in the Watsonville area and caused a landslide which blocked a highway five miles southeast of the city this afternoon. No casualties were reported.

The quake, felt in several quick shocks, started at about 1:35 p.m. and lasted nearly a minute. It apparently was strongest in the Watsonville area but shook buildings vigorously over a large area extending 90 miles north to the San Francisco Bay region.

In the San Francisco Bay area, from Palo Alto north to Mill Valley across the Golden Gate, the shocks were very strong but police surveys indicated nobody was hurt and damage was slight.

However, Watsonville, with more than 11,000 population, was severely jolted. Ceiling plaster fell in a number of homes and buildings, some walls were cracked, dishes fell off shelves and a power line collapsed. Power failures were frequent in the Watsonville-La Selva Beach area.

France May Seek New Type Of Indochina Aid

PARIS, April 25 (AP)—French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault implied tonight that France has asked the United States and Britain for some new type of war aid "because of the critical situation" in Indochina.

Questioned about a report published in the United States that France had asked the United States for massive aid in the form of American planes with American pilots, Bidault said:

"You understand that because of the critical situation wherein the defenders of Dien Bien Phu find themselves, everything should be tried to bring them aid."

New Vaccine Safe, Experts Say In Okaying Mass Test

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—A committee of polio experts today gave its final approval to the start of nationwide tests tomorrow of a new polio vaccine.

Inoculations of the new vaccine, latest entry in the quest of a means of preventing the "great cripple," are scheduled to get underway Monday in at least some of the 1711 selected communities in 45 states.

The vaccine to be used will be the manufactured version of a vaccine originally developed by Dr. Jonas Salk in his laboratories at the University of Pittsburgh.

The actual commencement of the trials, which may ultimately involve the vaccination of more than a half-million children, was okayed by a group of experts after a final two-day appraisal of the vaccine's safety.

The group constituted a "Vaccine Advisory Committee" to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis sponsors of the tests.

Tito In New Bid For Settlement Of Trieste Issue

LONDON, April 25 (AP)—President Tito has made a new bid for settlement of the bitter Italian-Yugoslav dispute over the strategic free territory of Trieste, official sources said tonight.

Tito is said to have notified Western Big Three Powers that along with yielding Trieste's port city to Italy, Yugoslavia is ready to grant Italy free access to it from the Italian frontier. He suggested possibly a corridor through the hinterland which embraces Zone A. That zone now is occupied by the United States and Britain, who have promised to turn its administration over to Italy.

Informed sources said this was the proposition put by Tito:

"He wants in return special Yugoslav rights in the port and privileged status for the Yugoslav population living in the territory coming under Rome's control. Such a settlement would give Belgrade ownership of at least the major part of Zone A, now supervised by 7,000 American and British troops.

Acceptance by Italy of the Yugoslav proposal would open the way for a five-power parley, including the Western Big Three, aimed at finally ending the 9-year-old Trieste feud.

The United States, Britain and France have been pushing hard behind the scenes to get a settlement of the quarrel they regard as blocking the setting up of an effective anti-Soviet defense system for Southeastern Europe. Italy has indicated its regards a Trieste settlement as a condition for ratifying the European Defense Community Treaty.

The British Foreign Office refused to comment officially on these reports. A spokesman said, however, the five powers are in contact in an effort to achieve a Trieste settlement.

Youngster Perishes In Baltimore Blaze

BALTIMORE, April 25 (AP)—A 2-year-old boy burned to death today when fire swept his two-story brick home in northeast Baltimore.

The victim, Gerry McCoy, was unconscious when removed from his crib by fireman and was dead of suffocation and third degree burns of the entire body on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Both his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore McCoy, dropped from second-floor windows to safety.

Technically, the committee recommended that the NFIP go ahead with the planned tests, and President Basil O'Connor of the foundation said the organization would do so, and would assume administrative and financial responsibility for evaluating the vaccine.

Lewis' Union Asks National Fuels Policy

UMW Calls For Action To Bail Industry Out Of Economic Plight

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—The United Mine Workers Union called on the government today to establish a national fuels policy to bail the coal industry out of its current economic plight.

The international situation, the union said in a statement, "makes it mandatory that the American coal industry be kept strong and efficient in order to meet the fuel and energy needs of our nation and of our allies." Enemy action could block oil imports, and atomic energy cannot now produce the power that would be needed, it added.

The union's statement was issued in advance of a conference tomorrow of governors or their representatives from 16 coal-producing states. Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania arranged the meeting to study the industry's ills.

Coal Production Low
Production of both hard and soft coal is low. The Bureau of Mines has estimated soft coal production the first quarter of this year at 90 million tons, or 16 per cent below the 107 million tons in the first quarter of last year, also a bad year for the miners.

The coal meeting is a prelude to a conference of all state governors, called by President Eisenhower for a general briefing on domestic and foreign problems.

"The Communist aggressors, with the largest submarine fleet in history, are capable of shutting off our foreign oil imports virtually at a moment's notice," the UMW said.

Union Complains
"Atomic energy, our great new source of armed might, is not now and will not be for an unpredictable period of time capable of supplying both the weapons of defense and power to operate the domestic and, if necessary, war production economies."

The union complained that foreign residual oil, "dumped" into this country with low import taxes, had displaced more than 30 million tons of coal production in a single year and caused unemployment to thousands of miners.

The union statement also complained about efforts to bring natural gas into the country by pipeline from Canada and Mexico.

USAF Completes French Airlift

A FRENCH AIR BASE IN INDOCHINA, Saturday, April 24 (AP)—The U. S. Air Force today successfully completed operation "Bali High," a million-dollar, record-breaking airlift of French paratroopers from Paris to embattled Indochina.

The last of seven Douglas Globemasters carrying the French fighting men from Orly Airfield in Paris to this secret base roared in to a landing shortly before nightfall from Bangkok. The booming of French artillery in the forest-covered hills nearby furnished a sober backdrop.

The lift was the longest troop ferrying mission in history.

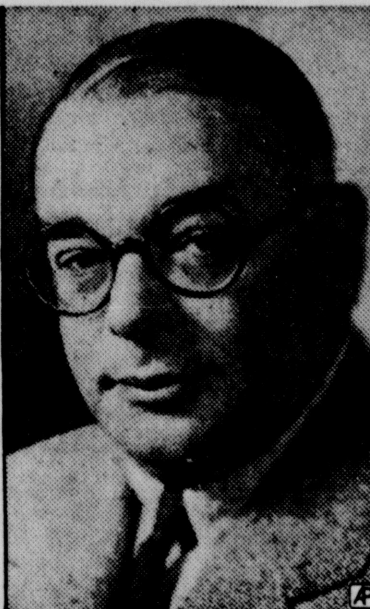

"Where's the firing?" asked Maj. John W. Crump, of Edmonds, Wash., one of the arriving Americans. "And how do we avoid it?"

Bali High's giant planes and the American crews paused only long enough here to discharge their human cargoes. Then they winged off to Clark Field, Manila.

By the time they return to their starting points in the United States they will have gone completely around the world.

Plane, 25 Aboard, Missing In Baltimore Blaze

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 25 (AP)—A DC3 plane carrying 21 passengers and four crewmen is lost in the mountains of La Rioja Province in northern Argentina. Argentine Airways said there was no clue as to its whereabouts or the fate of those aboard.

AUTHOR DEAD—Joseph Hergesheimer, 74, author whose "Gold and Iron" published in 1918 was a best-seller, died yesterday at Sea Isle City, N. C. He sold his first novel in 1914 but gained no financial return. A publisher brought out the "Lay Anthony" on a royalty basis and just 900 copies were sold.

Monmouth Lab Probes Costly, Scientists Say

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 25 (AP)—A committee of the Federation of American Scientists said in a report today that investigations of the Signal Corps engineering laboratories at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., have done substantial damage to the work in progress at the Army's main radar and communications research center.

The morale of personnel has suffered and the investigations have resulted in large monetary loss, said the federation's Committee on Loyalty and Security, headed by Ernest C. Pollard, professor of biophysics at Yale.

McCarthy Group Investigated
The report was based on a study of Ft. Monmouth investigations made by the Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and by the Army Security Board. The scientists said the President ought to appoint a "high level" committee of scientific and administrative authorities "to examine the situation."

In a summary of their bulky report, the scientists said:

"No evidence of espionage at SCEL (Signal Corps Engineering Laboratories), in recent years or at present, was shown during the (Senate) subcommittee investigation. Most persons publicly linked with the investigation had little or no connection with the laboratories, and only one of the 40-odd SCEL employees implicated by the Army was called before the subcommittee in open hearings."

None Refused To Answer
"None of these employees has refused to testify, on the grounds of possible self-incrimination or any other grounds: all have cooperated fully during the investigations, and have denied under oath the charges against them, or the conclusions inferred."

"The sensational headlines arising from the subcommittee investigation have lowered morale."

The scientists' committee said the Army Security Board hearings, which are still in progress, "have been objective, fair, and thorough."

However, they continued, "Security charges by the Army appear to have been drawn up hastily, under pressure, and without mature judgment, raising serious doubts as to the competence of those responsible for maintaining security."

Boy Killed By Police Car Chasing Speeder

ELKTON, Md., April 25 (AP)—A 3-year-old Cecil County boy was killed yesterday when he dashed across the highway in front of a State Police car chasing a speeder on Maryland 7 near here.

Robert Parsons was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital with a fractured skull.

Cpl. James S. Poteet, 38-year-old trooper driving the State Police car was headed east, according to the police report, trying to catch a speeder.

As he neared Bacon Hill he saw the small boy ahead on the opposite side of the road. Poteet said he jammed on the brakes as brush along the road momentarily hid the youngster from view. He was still slowing down when the boy dashed across the highway.

Poteet said he swerved to avoid hitting the youngster but the front end of the car struck the boy as he reached the center of the road.

Australia Won't Hand Petrov Over To Soviet

Detailed Charges Lacking, Note Says

CANBERRA, Australia, April 25 (AP)—Australia refused tonight to hand fugitive diplomat Vladimir Petrov and his wife over to the Russians. The Soviet Union has severed diplomatic relations with Australia as a result of the case.

Petrov, Soviet embassy secretary in Canberra, who abandoned communism and obtained political asylum here nearly two weeks ago, has been branded a "criminal" by the Russians. They demanded that he and his wife be turned over to them.

Acting Foreign Secretary Sir Philip McBride handed the Australian reply to Soviet Ambassador Nicolai Generalov. It served notice that neither Petrov nor his wife would be handed over and reminded the Soviets they still have not given any detailed charges against Petrov.

The Russians have used the terms "swindler" and "embezzler" in describing Petrov, who brought a bulky sheaf of documents with him when he came over to the West. The data purported to show that a giant spy ring was operating in Australia. As a result of the evidence, Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies announced a sweeping probe would be made into espionage activities in Australia.

Today's note was delivered as foreign ministry officials held a series of urgent meetings after receiving reports that the departure of the Australian embassy staff from Moscow was "conditional on developments in Australia." Earlier the Russians had told Australian Charge d'Affaires Brian Hill and his staff to get out of the country as soon as possible.

Diplomatic sources here said the delay in the staff's departure might involve an attempted "horse trade" by the Kremlin. They said the Russians may be trying to get Victor Antonov, Tass News Agency correspondent out of Australia in a hurry. Antonov, who has no diplomatic immunity, could be called in as a witness in the Petrov case.

Other sources speculated the Russians were enforcing the delay because Generalov and his staff were unable to get quick air passage out of Australia.

Reports from Moscow said the flag was still flying over the Australian embassy and there was no indication when the embassy staff would be permitted to leave.

9,000 Sky Troops To Hit Silk Today

FT. BRAGG, N. C., April 25 (AP)—America's ability for massive retaliation will be put to the test here tomorrow in war games designed to train the Army in defense against atomic attack.

The test of the nation's power to strike instantly to repel aggression in any part of the world will come in the scheduled mass jump of 9,000 paratroopers. The jump will be highspot of Exercise Flash Burn, the Army's atomic maneuver, and of Exercise Tacair 54-7, an Air Force operation. Both operations involve upwards of 100,000 men.

The Army's job will be to establish an air head so that a fleet of C124 Globemasters—the same plane that flew paratroopers from France to Indochina last week—can bring in elements of an infantry division for expanded ground operations. It will be the Air Force's job to get the troops to the right place at the right time.

Sunshine Battery Changes Light Into Electric Power

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—Just to permit night operations. They could run walkie-talkie radios, be used for power in mobile electrical equipment for military or civilian purposes, even juice up a flashlight by day for readiness at night. Or possibly, if they could be made big enough and cheaply enough—give you all the current for lights, TV set and refrigerator at home.

The sunshine battery realizes one scientific goal—making greater use of the sun's tremendous energy. The sun gives us a thousand trillion kilowatts of energy a day.

This battery now can convert six per cent of the light falling upon it. Bell scientists say they are sure they can make it convert 10 per cent.

A battery with enough strips side by side to make a square yard, could produce 50 watts of electricity. Each strip of silicon is about two inches long and half-an-inch wide.

With further development, sunshine batteries each a foot square, promise to supply all the power for long rural telephone lines, Bell officials said. The batteries would supply power by day, even cloudy days, and charge up storage units

British Officials Consider Military Help For French

LONDON, April 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill met with his top ministers in an atmosphere of crisis today and they were reported to have considered lending military support to save embattled Indochina from the Reds.

Best information indicated that the idea of sending troops and planes was shelved, at least temporarily, in favor of other ways of helping France to victory in the Indochina War.

Reports circulated that Britain may send more troops and planes to Malaya, an easy springboard toward the battlefronts. Britain might also parade its naval might along the Indochinese coast, as the United States has done.

Shows of force of this kind would be aimed at bolstering morale in Indochina and stiffening the backs of the French themselves, many of whom want to make big concessions to get a negotiated peace.

All-Out Assault On French Fort Near, Reds Say

HANOI, Indochina, April 25 (AP)—Vietminh artillery pounded Dien Bien Phu with new fury today and a Vietnam broadcast heard in Hanoi warned that a death blow assault on the battered fortress was not far away.

The broadcast, naming Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, the French commander of the fortress, declared he and Ho Chi Minh's troops "will be face to face very soon."

A qualified French source who gets up-to-the-minute reports on conditions within the fortress declared the morale of the defenders was "sky high."

He said their situation was "extremely serious but not desperate."

Somehow, the defenders feel they can hold out, this informant said, no matter how often the Vietminh attack.

But it looked like the French would need a lot of luck to turn back the Red tide if there is a general assault soon.

The fight undoubtedly will be decided in hand-to-hand combat. The defense area is so small that any attack or counterattack is bound to bring on body-to-body struggles.

A French Union command spokesman said the Communist rebels were concentrating their barrage on the fortress' crumbling northwest defenses where the Vietminh now hold three key French outposts.

The rebels have been pounding the northwest corner several days in a dogged attempt to blast a gap big enough to let thousands of Vietminh shock troops pour through to the heart of the fort.

The French have been expecting the rebels to try to smash the fortress just about the time the Geneva Conference opens. The East-West talks, aimed in part at settling the Indochina War by negotiation, start tomorrow.

Noted Humorist Dies

WARRENTON, Va., April 25 (AP)—Strickland Gillilan, humorist best known for his "Off Agin, On Agin, Gone Agin, Finnigan", died in a hospital here today at the age of 84.

Motorman R.W. Marshall, 56, of Chicago, said the brakes of his six-car Illinois Central Railroad electric train failed as he was approaching the platform from which a two-car electric South Shore Lines train was pulling away.

The incoming train hammered the rear of the shorter train sending it rolling 150 feet down the track. Both were bound out of the city.

The engineer of the South Shore train, Harold Weber, 47, of Michigan, City, Ind., said the jolt caused him to blackout momentarily, but added he recovered in time to bring the train to a halt.

The man's body was found in the concrete courtyard. On the roof police found Browne, patiently waiting.

Roof Top Ramp With Dog Ends In Death

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—A rooftop ramp with a pet dog ended a man's life today.

Police said that shortly after midnight, George M. Betz, 62, went to the roof of a four-story building he owned, with the animal, Browne. Tenants heard Betz and the dog running about, then a thud.

The man's body was found in the concrete courtyard. On the roof police found Browne, patiently waiting.

West Gloomy Over Outcome Of Conference

Russia And Western Powers Split Over Role Of Chinese Reds

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 25 (AP)—The Far Eastern conference opens here tomorrow faced by a wide-open split between Russia and the Western Powers over the role of Red China.

The United States was reported by authoritative sources to be extremely pessimistic over the outcome. The Big Three Western foreign ministers were understood to be prepared to pull out within a week or 10 days, leaving behind their deputies to carry on.

The conference opens as French Union forces in Indochina are gravely pressed at Dien Bien Phu. France was reported to have asked for military aid, which the United States considered might go beyond the help that can be given without involving the United States in war. This has been refused.

British Cabinet Meets

The problems faced here and at Dien Bien Phu were so serious that the British Cabinet held an emergency Sunday session before Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden took off by plane for Geneva.

A new Russian note insisted, informed sources said, that Red China must have the status of a Big Five power when the conference discusses Korea and Indochina.

One informant said U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles would "walk out of the conference" if the Russians continue to maintain this stand. Today's Soviet note responded to a Western declaration that Red China was not one of the inviting powers for the conference and thus did not have equal status with Britain, France, Russia and the United States.

Problems Of Procedure

Many problems of conference procedure remained unsolved. No time of the opening session has been announced, but at least some of the top delegates are planning to show up at 3 p.m. (9 a.m. EST) at the Palace of Nations, European headquarters of the United Nations.

The United States is reported so firmly opposed to any sort of recognition of Red China that it is willing to break up the conference rather than give the Peking regime equal status.

The big powers had reached no agreement even on how they were going to choose a chairman. There have been no top-level talks here between Russia and the Western Powers and apparently none are planned before tomorrow's meeting. Experts of the United States, Russia, Britain and France continued, however, to work on procedural problems.

49 Persons Hurt In Rail Accident

CHICAGO, April 25 (AP)—Forty-nine persons were injured early today when a slow rolling suburban train rammed into the rear of another commuter train which was pulling away from a downtown station platform.

Most of the injured were treated and released from three Chicago hospitals. Seven were hospitalized several hours after the accident but attendants said none was in serious condition. Some 400 passengers on both trains were shaken up.

Motorman R.W. Marshall, 56, of Chicago, said the brakes of his six-car Illinois Central Railroad electric train failed as he was approaching the platform from which a two-car electric South Shore Lines train was pulling away.

The union's statement was issued in advance of a conference tomorrow of governors or their representatives from 16 coal-producing states. Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania arranged the meeting to study the industry's ills.

Coal Production Low

Production of both hard and soft coal is low. The Bureau of Mines has estimated soft coal production the first quarter of this year at 90 million tons, or 16 per cent below the 107 million tons in the first quarter of last year, also a bad year for the miners.

The coal meeting is a prelude to a conference of all state governors, called by President Eisenhower for a general briefing on domestic and foreign problems.

"The Communist aggressors, with the largest submarine fleet in history, are capable of shutting off our foreign oil imports virtually at a moment's notice," the UMW said.

Union Complains

"Atomic energy, our great new source of armed might, is not now and will not be for an unpredictable period of time capable of supplying both the weapons of defense and power to operate the domestic and, if necessary, war production economies."

The union complained that foreign residual oil, "dumped" into this country with low import taxes, had displaced more than 30 million tons of coal production in a single year and caused unemployment to thousands of miners.

The union statement also complained about efforts to bring natural gas into the country by pipeline from Canada and Mexico.

USAF Completes French Airlift

A FRENCH AIR BASE IN INDOCHINA, Saturday, April 24 (AP)—The U. S. Air Force today successfully completed operation "Bali High," a million-dollar, record-breaking airlift of French paratroopers from Paris to embattled Indochina.

The last of seven Douglas Globemasters carrying the French fighting men from Orly Airfield in Paris to this secret base roared in to a landing shortly before nightfall from Bangkok. The booming of French artillery in the forest-covered hills nearby furnished a sober backdrop.

The lift was the longest troop ferrying mission in history.

"Where's the firing?" asked Maj. John W. Crump, of Edmonds, Wash., one of the arriving Americans. "And how do we avoid it?"

Bali High's giant planes and their American crews paused only long enough here to discharge their human cargoes. Then they winged off to Clark Field, Manila.

By the time they return to their starting points in the United States they will have gone completely around the world.

Youngster Perishes In Baltimore Blaze

BALTIMORE, April 25 (AP)—A 2-year-old boy burned to death today when fire swept his two-story brick home in northeast Baltimore.

The victim, Gerro McCoy, was unconscious when removed from his crib by fireman and was dead of suffocation and third degree burns of the entire body on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Both his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore McCoy, dropped from second-floor windows to safety.

Plane, 25 Aboard, Missing

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 25 (AP)—A DC3 plane carrying 21 passengers and four crewmen is lost in the mountains of La Rioja Province in northern Argentina. Argentine Airways said there was no clue as to its whereabouts or the fate of those aboard.

AUTHOR DEAD—Joseph Hergesheimer, 74, author whose "Gold and Iron" published in 1918 was a best-seller, died yesterday at Sea Isle City, N. C. He sold his first novel in 1914 but gained no financial return. A publisher brought out the "Lay Anthony" on a royalty basis and just 900 copies were sold.

Monmouth Lab Probes Costly, Scientists Say

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 25 (AP)—A committee of the Federation of American Scientists said in a report today that investigations of the Signal Corps engineering laboratories at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., have done substantial damage to the work in progress at the Army's main radar and communications research center.

The morale of personnel has suffered and the investigations have resulted in large monetary loss, said the federation's Committee on Loyalty and Security, headed by Ernest C. Pollard, professor of biophysics at Yale.

McCarthy Group Investigated

The report was based on a study of Ft. Monmouth investigations headed by the Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and by the Army Security Board. The scientists said the President ought to appoint a "high level" committee of scientific and administrative authorities "to examine the situation."

In a summary of their bulky report, the scientists said:

"No evidence of espionage at SCEL (Signal Corps Engineering Laboratories), in recent years or at present, was shown during the (Senate) subcommittee investigation. Most persons publicly linked with the investigation had little or no connection with the laboratories, and only one of the 40-odd SCEL employees implicated by the Army was called before the subcommittee in open hearings."

"None of these employees has refused to testify, on the grounds of possible self-incrimination or on other grounds; all have cooperated fully during the investigations, and have denied under oath the charges against them, or the conclusions inferred."

The sensational headlines arising from the subcommittee investigation have lowered morale."

The scientists' committee said the Army Security Board hearings, which are still in progress, "have been objective, fair, and thorough."

However, they continued, "Security charges by the Army appear to have been drawn up hastily, under pressure, and without mature judgment, raising serious doubts as to the competence of those responsible for maintaining security."

Boy Killed By Police Car Chasing Speeder

ELKTON, Md., April 25 (AP)—A 3-year-old Cecil County boy was killed yesterday when he dashed across the highway in front of a State Police car chasing a speeder on Maryland 7 near here.

Robert Parsons was dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital with a fractured skull.

Cpl. James S. Poteet, 38-year-old trooper driving the State Police car was headed east, according to the police report, trying to catch a speeder.

As he neared Bacon Hill he saw the small boy ahead on the opposite side of the road. Poteet said he jammed on the brakes as brush along the road momentarily hid the youngster from view. He was still slowing down when the boy dashed across the highway.

Poteet said he swerved to avoid hitting the youngster but the front end of the car struck the boy as he reached the center of the road.

Australia Won't Hand Petrov Over To Soviet

Detailed Charges Lacking, Note Says

CANBERRA, Australia, April 25 (AP)—Australia refused tonight to hand fugitive diplomat Vladimir Petrov and his wife over to the Russians. The Soviet Union has severed diplomatic relations with Australia as a result of the case.

Petrov, Soviet embassy secretary in Canberra, who abandoned communism and obtained political asylum here nearly two weeks ago, has been branded a "criminal" by the Russians. They demanded that he and his wife be turned over to them.

Acting Foreign Secretary Sir Philip McBride handed the Australian reply to Soviet Ambassador Nicolai Generalov. It served notice that neither Petrov nor his wife would be handed over and reminded the Soviets they still have not given any detailed charges against Petrov.

The Russians have used the terms "swindler" and "embezzler" in describing Petrov, who brought a bulky sheaf of documents with him when he came over to the West. The data purported to show that a giant spy ring was operating in Australia. As a result of the evidence, Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies announced a sweeping probe would be made into espionage activities in Australia.

Today's note was delivered as foreign ministry officials held a series of urgent meetings after receiving reports that the departure of the Australian embassy staff from Moscow was "conditional on developments in Australia." Earlier the Russians had told Australian Charge d'Affaires Brien Hill and his staff to get out of the country as soon as possible.

Diplomatic sources here said the delay in the staff's departure might involve an attempted "horse trade" by the Kremlin. They said the Russians may be trying to get Victor Antonov, Tass News Agency correspondent out of Australia in a hurry. Antonov, who has no diplomatic immunity, could be called in as a witness in the Petrov case.

Other sources speculated the Russians were enforcing the delay because Generalov and his staff were unable to get quick air passage out of Australia.

Reports from Moscow said the flag was still flying over the Australian embassy and there was no indication when the embassy staff would be permitted to leave.

9,000 Sky Troops To Hit Silk Today

FT. BRAGG, N. C., April 25 (AP)—America's ability for massive retaliation will be put to the test here tomorrow in war games designed to train the Army in defense against atomic attack.

The test of the nation's power to strike instantly to repel aggression in any part of the world will come in the scheduled mass jump of 9,000 paratroopers. The jump will be highspot of Exercise Flash Burn, the Army's atomic maneuver, and of Exercise Tacair 54-7, an Air Force operation. Both operations involve upwards of 100,000 men.

The Army's job will be to establish an air head so that a fleet of C124 Globemasters—the same plane that flew paratroopers from France to Indochina last week—can bring in elements of an infantry division for expanded ground operations. It will be the Air Force's job to get the troops to the right place at the right time.

Sunshine Battery Changes Light Into Electric Power

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—Just to permit night operations.

They could run walkie-talkie radios, be used for power in mobile electrical equipment for military or civilian purposes, even juice up a flashlight by day for readiness at night. Or possibly—if they could be made big enough and cheaply enough—give you all the current for lights, TV set and refrigerator at home.

The sunshine battery realizes one scientific goal—making greater use of the sun's tremendous energy. The sun gives us a thousand trillion kilowatts of energy a day. This battery now can convert six per cent of the light falling upon it. Bell scientists say they are sure they can make it convert 10 per cent.

A battery with enough strips, side by side to make a square yard, could produce 50 watts of electricity. Each strip of silicon is about two inches long and half an inch wide.

British Officials Consider Military Help For French

LONDON, April 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill met with his top ministers in an atmosphere of crisis today and they were reported to have considered lending military support to save embattled Indochina from the Reds.

Best information indicated that the idea of sending troops and planes was shelved, at least temporarily, in favor of other ways of helping France to victory in the Indochina War.

Reports circulated that Britain may send more troops and planes to Malaya, an easy springboard toward the battlefronts. Britain might also parade its naval might along the Indochinese coast, as the United States has done.

Shows of force of this kind would be aimed at bolstering morale in Indochina and stiffening the backs of the French themselves, many of whom want to make big concessions to get a negotiated peace.

All-Out Assault On French Fort Near, Reds Say

HANOI, Indochina, April 25 (AP)—Vietnam artillery pounded Dien Bien Phu with new fury today and a Vietnam broadcast heard in Hanoi warned that a death blow assault on the battered fortress was not far away.

The broadcast, naming Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, the French commander of the fortress, declared he and Ho Chi Minh's troops "will be face to face very soon."

A qualified French source who gets up-to-the-minute reports on conditions within the fortress declared the morale of the defenders was "sky high."

He said their situation was "extremely serious but not desperate."

Somehow, the defenders feel they can hold out, this informant said, no matter how often the Vietnam attack.

But it looked like the French would need a lot of luck to turn back the Red tide if there is a general assault soon.

The fight undoubtedly will be decided in hand-to-hand combat. The defense area is so small that any attack or counterattack is bound to bring on body-to-body struggles.

A French Union command spokesman said the Communist rebels were concentrating their barrage on the fortress' crumbling north west defenses where the Vietnam now hold three key French outposts.

The rebels have been pounding the northwest corner several days in a dogged attempt to blast a gap big enough to let thousands of Vietnam shock troops pour through to the heart of the fort.

The French have been expecting the rebels to try to smash the fortress just about the time the Geneva Conference opens. The East-West talks, aimed in part at settling the Indochina War by negotiation, start tomorrow.

Noted Humorist Dies

WARRENTON, Va., April 25 (AP)—Strickland Gillilan, humorist best known for his "Off Agin, On Agin, Gone Agin, Finnigan", died in a hospital here today at the age of 84.

West Gloomy Over Outcome Of Conference

Russia And Western Powers Split Over Role Of Chinese Reds

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 25 (AP)—The Far Eastern conference opens here tomorrow faced by a wide-open split between Russia and the Western Powers over the role of Red China.

The United States was reported by authoritative sources to be extremely pessimistic over the outcome. The Big Three Western foreign ministers were understood to be prepared to pull out within a week or 10 days, leaving behind their deputies to carry on.

The conference opens as French Union forces in Indochina are gravely pressed at Dien Bien Phu. France was reported to have asked for military aid, which the United States considered might go beyond the help that can be given without involving the United States in war. This has been refused.

British Cabinet Meets

The problems faced here and at Dien Bien Phu were so serious that the British Cabinet held an emergency Sunday session before Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden took off by plane for Geneva.

A new Russian note insisted, informed sources said, that Red China must have the status of a Big Five power when the conference discusses Korea and Indochina.

One informant said U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles would "walk out of the conference" if the Russians continue to maintain this stand. Today's Soviet note responded to a Western declaration that Red China was not one of the inviting powers for the conference and thus did not have equal status with Britain, France, Russia and the United States.

Problems Of Procedure

Many problems of conference procedure remained unsolved. No time of the opening session has been announced, but at least some of the top delegates are planning to show up at 3 p.m. (9 a.m. EST) at the Palace of Nations, European headquarters of the United Nations.

The United States is reported so firmly opposed to any sort of recognition of Red China that it is willing to break up the conference rather than give the Peiping regime equal status.

The big powers had reached no agreement even on how they were going to choose a chairman. There have been no top-level talks here between Russia and the Western Powers and apparently none are planned before tomorrow's meeting. Experts of the United States, Russia, Britain and France continued, however, to work on procedural problems.

49 Persons Hurt In Rail Accident

CHICAGO, April 25 (AP)—Forty-nine persons were injured early today when a slow rolling suburban train rammed into the rear of another commuter train which was pulling away from a downtown station platform.

Most of the injured were treated and released from three Chicago hospitals. Seven were hospitalized several hours after the accident but attendants said none was in serious condition. Some 400 passengers on both trains were shaken up.

Motorman R.W. Marshall, 56, of Chicago, said the brakes of his six-car Illinois Central Railroad electric train failed as he was approaching the platform from which a two-car electric South Shore Lines train was pulling away.

The incoming train hammered the rear of the shorter train sending it rolling 150 feet down the track. Both were bound out of the city.

The engineer of the South Shore train, Harold Weber, 47, of Michigan, City, Ind., said the jolt caused him to blackout momentarily, but added he recovered in time to bring the train to a halt.

Rooftop Romp With Dog Ends In Death

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—A rooftop romp with a pet dog ended a man's life today.

Police said that shortly after midnight, George M. Betz, 62, went to the roof of a four-story building he owned, with the animal, Brownie. Tenants heard Betz and the dog running about, then a thud. The man's body was found in the concrete courtyard. On the roof police found Brownie, patiently waiting.

Anthony Saeli Is Named State C. Of C. President

The Maryland Council of Chambers of Commerce, meeting Saturday in Hagerstown, elected Anthony Saeli of Cumberland its new president and discussed ways for bringing more tourist trade to Maryland.

Saeli succeeds James W. Stone of Hagerstown.

Other officers chosen at the windup of a two-day session included:

Charles H. Kopeland, manager of the Silver Spring Board of Trade, first vice president; W. H. McCabe, president of the Ocean City Chamber, second vice president; Sam Hammil, manager of the research department of the Baltimore Assn. of Commerce, secretary-treasurer.

The following were named directors: George Slagle, Frederick; James W. Stone, Hagerstown; Harry T. Krause, Annapolis; and Samuel Harvey of the Hyattsville-Prince Georges Chamber.

The council went on record favoring, in principle, statewide driver and traffic safety education in Maryland schools, but spent most of the workshop session discussing industrial expansion and tourist trade.

The group suggested that Maryland's tourist attractions be publicized from the statewide level instead of through local chambers and said it could be handled through brochures, presentation of pageants, and other means.

"The people of the state," said Saeli, "are either not aware or they are taking for granted the attractions the State has."

He said Gov. McKeldin had called a meeting in the House chamber at Annapolis May 12 to discuss the possibility of forming a Maryland Travel Council. Two thousand interested persons have been invited to attend.

William P. Rock, chairman of the council's industrial development committee, reported on steps taken by the council to encourage community awareness of the need for planning. Industrial development, he warned, is a long-range job with exacting requirements. One of these, he said, is to prepare the community so that it can receive new industry.

In Class B competition, Romney High School Band and Southern High School Band of Oakland, won Class A ratings.

Over 1,000 student musicians participated.

Four Banks To Drop Monday Night Hours

The Cumberland Clearing House Association has decided to terminate Monday evening openings for the summer months. It is understood that the new practice will coincide with the coming of Daylight Saving Time so that, beginning today banks will revert to their regular daily hours of 9 a. m. to 2 p. m.

Several months ago Cumberland's banks announced that they would try opening for a two hour period on Monday evenings. Four of the banks say that depositor response to these evening hours did not come up to expectations. In some cases it was found that the added expense of these extra hours of operation was not covered by the business that resulted. A spokesman for four of the banks also stated that the desires of their employees to enjoy the added hours of daylight are another reason for the termination of the Monday evening openings for the summer months.

The banks that will discontinue Monday evening openings, beginning today, are the Commercial Savings Bank, the Cumberland Savings Bank, the Liberty Trust Company, and the Second National Bank.

First National will continue Monday opening from 7 to 9 p. m.

Indian land holdings in the United States total approximately 53 million acres.

Crash Driver To Be Sentenced

Robert Miller, Route 3, will be sentenced today by Trial Magistrate Milton J. Dick on motor vehicle charges arising from an automobile accident here on April 13.

Miller was arrested by Officer Kenneth Morrissey after the car he was driving crashed against the last of five cars stopped at Henderson Avenue to await the passage of a freight train.

Magistrate Dick on Friday found Miller guilty on four counts—reckless driving, drunken driving, driving when a license has been refused and for failing to identify himself following an accident.

The magistrate said the current conviction is the third imposed on Miller for drunken driving.

He said the man was sentenced to a year in the Maryland House of Correction recently by Associate Judge George Henderson in connection with the destruction and stripping of a car owned by Robert F. Baker, Columbia Street.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Are you Miss Somebody, or Miss Everybody? The "somebody" I'm talking about is the charming woman with individuality, who expresses her personal point of view intelligently, and who profits by her natural assets. The "everybody" is a carbon copy of a dozen other people.

It's awfully easy to be a copyist, in living as in the arts. It's not so easy to be original. The roots of conformity are implanted in childhood, and their outward expressions are noted even by the very young. Remember the school days taunts of "Copycat! Copycat!" that greeted the little girl who imitated the dress of her best friend, or who prepared her lessons by looking over her neighbors' shoulders?

Even though you are grown-up now, you still may be tempted to be the copycat, by adopting the ways of dress or manner that you admire in another. Realize, however, that what is attractive for one is not attractive for all. Better to take stock of your good and poor points, the go about accenting the one, minimizing the other—but in your very own manner.

Your Assets

Realize, too, that attractiveness is not a matter of physical features so much as it is a general quality about a woman. Your appearance depends primarily on what you do with all of your assets and liabilities, not just one or two.

The pretty girl may have the edge in one respect, but relying on that edge, she may fall behind in the total picture of "Miss Somebody," while she is satisfied with her own good looks, you are conscious of the fact that there is more to charm than good looks alone. You are not copying her hair style, her makeup, her fashions—or anybody else's. You are keeping a firm hand on the hair brush, a sharp eye on the calendar chart, a warm iron on the clothes and an alert mind on events. You are conscious of the importance of grooming, of posture, of a pleasant voice and bright conversation, and the complete result is more engaging than beauty alone.

Your Independence

If you are "somebody," you are as independent in thought as in appearance. Your political convictions, your personal opinions, are arrived at after weighing the pros and cons. They don't merely echo or "copycat" some other person's evaluation of a new law or a new law or loyalty.

As you study fashions, you decide what is best to make you "Miss Somebody." As you read, you arrive at your own conclusions. As you consider your voice, your manners, your grooming habits, you decide if they're presenting you as an individual. You discard the copycat tendencies and develop your own personality potential.

Pilgrimage Planned By Taney Assembly

Chief Justice Taney General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, will make a Marian Year pilgrimage next Sunday to St. Mary's Catholic Church, Lonaconing, according to Arthur F. Young, faithful navigator of the assembly.

Members are to attend the 2 p. m. services in full regalia, Young stated, adding that Rev. John U. Lyness, faithful friar of the assembly and assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church here, will conduct the pilgrimage devotions.

Plans call for the newly-organized Color Guard of the unit to participate in the services under the direction of Marshal Patrick J. Creagan. The new equipment for the guard arrived recently. Young explained, and this will be the first appearance of the group since its formation.

Following the Marian Year services, the Taney Assembly caravan will proceed to St. Peter and Paul Church to serve as honor guard at 4:30 p. m. exercises of the Forty Hours devotions.

Young announced that all Third Degree members of neighboring councils are invited to attend the Marian Year services at Lonaconing.

Court Suspends Prison Sentence

Robert Eugene Lee, 22, one of the four Bowman's Addition men who pleaded guilty to stripping the auto of a local resident, was given a suspended prison sentence Saturday in Allegany County Circuit Court when he made restitution for damages to the vehicle.

Lee was placed on probation for five years when he appeared in court and turned over $604, the amount of the damages of the car of Robert F. Baker, Columbia Street, to State's attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

The three other men who confessed to their participation in the damaging of the 1949 model sedan, were sentenced to one year apiece in the House of Correction.

They were Robert George Hott, 26, Thomas Carl Hott, 25, and Robert Kline Miller, 28, all of Bowman's Addition.

The four men were specifically charged with malicious destruction of property and larceny and receiving stolen goods.

Baker's auto became disabled on Valley Road on March 16 about three miles from Cumberland. He returned to the city for a tow truck and upon arriving back found the car had been toppled over a ten-foot bank and stripped of two wheels, battery, cigarette lighter and other accessories.

Garrett County Gas Wells Hit By Water Encroachment

The natural gas wells in the Oakland field are gradually decreasing in production because of water encroachment into the gas supply.

Albert B. Lauderbaugh, chief engineer for the C&A Gas Company, recently released figures that showed production decreased from 3,421,000 cubic feet in 1951 to 2,224,749 cubic feet in 1952 and finally to 1,449,840 cubic feet in 1953. Only 833,000 cubic feet are expected in 1954.

The 25 wells in the Oakland-Mountain Lake Park section are slowing down at about a rate of 8 to 10 per cent each month less than the previous month's production, Lauderbaugh showed.

The gas in this field comes from the Oriskany Sands and in the past three years water has been seeping into this origin of supply, drowning it out.

While the future of the Oakland field is bleak, there are two other sources of natural gas supply that are being worked.

There is a new 30,000-acre field in the Accident section where the C&A has under lease 1,700 acres and has a contract to purchase gas from the owner of the rest.

There is only one well producing, but that has been supplying 1,800,000 cubic feet daily. Lauderbaugh said his company expects to remove a total of 373,000 cubic feet of gas during 1954.

Production is expected to go up to 423,000 cubic feet in 1955.

Because the C&A has no competition from independent drillers in this field it proposes to restrict its operation in such a manner as to keep it shut in the warm summer months.

Lauderbaugh said this practice will make it possible for the C&A to obtain as much as 75,000,000 cubic feet of gas a month out of the field for some month like December in the winter season.

Another new field, which did not get into production in 1953, is located in Randolph County, W. Va. However, during January it began to produce 2,400,000 cubic feet per day. Independent companies are exploiting this field.

Garrett County Gas Wells Hit By Water Encroachment

The natural gas wells in the Oakland field are gradually decreasing in production because of water encroachment into the gas supply.

Albert B. Lauderbaugh, chief engineer for the C&A Gas Company, recently released figures that showed production decreased from 3,421,000 cubic feet in 1951 to 2,224,749 cubic feet in 1952 and finally to 1,449,840 cubic feet in 1953. Only 833,000 cubic feet are expected in 1954.

The 25 wells in the Oakland-Mountain Lake Park section are slowing down at about a rate of 8 to 10 per cent each month less than the previous month's production, Lauderbaugh showed.

The gas in this field comes from the Oriskany Sands and in the past three years water has been seeping into this origin of supply, drowning it out.

While the future of the Oakland field is bleak, there are two other sources of natural gas supply that are being worked.

There is a new 30,000-acre field in the Accident section where the C&A has under lease 1,700 acres and has a contract to purchase gas from the owner of the tract.

There is only one well producing, but that has been supplying 1,800,000 cubic feet daily. Lauderbaugh said his company expects to remove a total of 373,000,000 cubic feet of gas during 1954.

Production is expected to go up to 423,000,000 cubic feet in 1955.

Because the C&A has no competition from independent drillers in this field it proposes to restrict its operation in such a manner as to keep it shut in the warmer summer months.

Lauderbaugh said this practice will make it possible for the C&A to obtain as much as 75,000,000 cubic feet of gas a month out of the field for some month like December in the winter season.

Another new field, which did not get into production in 1953, is located in Randolph County, W. Va.

However, during January it began to produce 2,400,000 cubic feet per day. Independent companies are exploiting this field.

Tall Texas Tale To Make Money

Who wouldn't like to sell an acre of his land, if any, for $2,352,240? And in addition keep all mineral rights, and, for all practical purposes, full use of the property?

It sounds fantastic, but a clever ranch owner and his imaginative press agent in Texas are attempting to do that very thing. Under their plan a resident of any of the other states not fortunate enough to be named Texas, can overcome the inferiority complex this situation may incur by becoming a property owner in Texas for the small sum of 75 cents.

For this sum, the purchaser becomes not only a Texas landholder but he also gets the coveted right to brag about the wonderful virtues of his "home" state—Texas.

It all started when the owners of the Lazy C Ranch at Sugarland, Texas, divided one acre of their land into two-square-inch plots, 3,136,320 of them to be exact. Each plot sells for 75 cents, and the buyer will receive a regulation general warranty deed, stating in the traditional fine type that the two-inch plot is his, his heirs and assigns, forever.

It is a legal deed and can be registered. It carries the number of the particular two-inch tract, so the landowner, once he gets to Texas, can look at his property. He can only look as it would be too small to stand on.

Of course, there is no limit to the number of tracts to be sold to an individual, and a big spender may buy a square foot or more of land if he so desires. The bill of sale stipulates, however, that the new owner cannot occupy his tract nor take it home with him.

The Lazy C Ranch contains 4,128 acres, so if the owners wanted to carry out their scheme over the entire acreage, they could sub-divide it into 12,946,728,960 two-square-inch plots, or 5.4 plots for each of the 2,400,000,000 men, women, and children in the entire world. At 75 cents a plot, this would price the ranch at $9,710,046,720.

To sell the initial acre, the owners have to interest exactly 3,136,320 Americans who don't already own land in Texas. That's quite a job.

The ranch, 23 miles southwest of Houston, is incorporated, and its president is Capt. M. T. Gonzales, former Texas ranger, of whom it has been said that he was so famous as a western law enforcement officer, that the notches on his gun have notches.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Permanent War

The theory of NATO and of its offspring, the European Defense Community, was that the nations of Western Europe would be supported, strengthened and, in a measure, protected by the United States until they were able to build defenses of their own and to create a European army. Then the American troops in Europe would come home.

Every dollar that the American taxpayer spent on these enterprises was designed to bring our sons home from Europe. Some of us have said from the beginning of NATO that the Americans would not be brought home; that the Europeans had developed a habit of dependence, a state of mind of letting Uncle Sam do it. We were ridiculed as negativists who never saw the shining light behind the black clouds of permanent war.

The President of the United States has guaranteed France that American troops will remain in Europe until the danger of war is over. In this lies danger itself because to the French, their principal antagonist is not Russia but Germany. To us, Germany is the main bulwark in Europe of our defenses, the only Western European nation that we can, at the moment, surely depend upon in a conflict with Russia.

On the one hand, then, we build up the military power of West Germany; on the other hand, we must stand as a military force to safeguard France against the possibility of the diversion of West Germany's regained strength from defense against Russia to war on France. The United States is caught in the middle.

The French have apparently dumped the Indochina War into our responsibilities in return for accepting the European Defense Community—and for votes with us at the Geneva Conference. This may be regarded as an outstanding victory for John Foster Dulles. But is it a victory for the United States?

The war in Korea might perhaps be justified on the grounds that it was designed to liberate a people from enslavement by the Soviet Universal State. To a degree, this could be true about the Indochina War, except that to that is added the factor of French colonialism. Americans are emotionally opposed to colonialism. Until it is clear that it is the intention of the United States to liberate Indochina from both the Soviet Universal State and the French, it will be difficult for the administration to sell the idea of sending huge American forces to Indochina. Thus far, only Thailand—the next country to be endangered should Indochina fall—shows any vital interest in a Far Eastern NATO.

Should a Far Eastern NATO be arranged, Americans will ask about percentages. Are we to provide approximately 90 per cent of the troops in Indochina as we did in Korea? Are we to pay the entire bill for such a war? Are we to be permitted to attack the big supply centers in Kweilin and the island of Hainan, or are we to recognize as sanctuaries the areas of supplies and recruitments in Red China as we recognized Manchuria as a sanctuary for the Red Chinese and therefore lost a war? Are we to fight military war with a clear target, or are we to fight a political war with no target and with inhibitions as we did in Korea?

The President, under treaties, may send American troops anywhere without consulting the Congress. If the war in Indochina is a revolution for liberation, the President is not empowered to send American troops to that country, but if the war in Indochina is a Soviet attempt to violate the rights of France, the President, by treaty, is empowered to send an army of any size to that country without consulting Congress. The constitutional provision that only Congress can make war is thus vitiated by treaty.

And if we lose Indochina as we lost in Korea, shall we fight in Thailand and in Burma? That very question forces us to realize that we cannot lose the Indochina War, once we get deeply into it, without getting into two more wars in this area. But what will it cost in human life to win this war unless we use atomic and thermonuclear bombs? Shall we have to lose another 40,000 lives as we did in Korea? Is Britain's rejection of the use of bombs against the mainland of China worth 40,000 American lives?

Incredible As It May Seem

Democrats See Favorable Trend But GOP Belittles It

WASHINGTON

How do you recognize a political trend when you see one? This question is raised because the Democrats in Congress are claiming to discern a very strong trend in their favor. They say that this trend first became visible with the autumn election upsets in Wisconsin and New Jersey, and that it has steadily gathered momentum ever since.

House minority whip John McCormack, for example, stoutly maintains that the Democrats today could easily win the House by a majority of 40 to 60 seats. There is also increasing talk among the Democrats of capturing the Senate—a much more different feat.

The Republicans, for their part, maintain just as stoutly that the alleged trend is a figment of the Democratic imagination, heavily tinged with political propaganda. What follows, then, is the evidence which the Democrats advance to support their claim. Whether or not this evidence is substantially valid, the reader may be allowed to judge for himself.

First, there are the polls, for whatever they are worth. The Democrats point with pride to the following recent polls:

A Minnesota poll showing Sen. Hubert Humphrey, who was once thought to be in danger, with an amazingly comfortable lead over his opponent.

Big Percentage Favorable

A Denver, Col., poll showing a 27-point drop from last June in those thinking the administration was doing a "good" job, and an 11-point drop in those thinking the administration was doing a "good" or "fair" job. (But, it should be pointed out, a whopping 82 per cent still think the administration is doing at least fairly well.)

A poll of eight states from the Republican mid-west, by the industrious Dr. Gallup, showing the Democrats rapidly closing in on the Republicans.

A Texas poll showing a 12 per cent drop from last August in the administration's popularity.

Second, there was the recent voting in Tucson, Ariz., Santa Fe, N.Mex., and in certain small and medium-sized Massachusetts towns; and the registration in the county of York, Pa.

In the last two elections, in 1952 and 1953, Tucson elected six Republican members of the city council and a Republican mayor, by handsome majorities. In the election held on April 6, three seats on the city council were disputed and all three were handily won by Democrats.

As always, there were local factors—for one thing, the influential "Arizona Daily Star," which supported the Republicans in 1952, backed the Democrats on this go round. But William Matthews, highly knowledgeable editor and publisher of the "Star," himself believes that the Tucson vote had real national significance. Moreover, exactly the same pattern held in the municipal election in Santa Fe, held on the same day.

GOP Straws Favorable Too

In Massachusetts, a whole slew of small to medium towns, some of which had never elected a Democrat to office practically since the Revolution, went Democratic. Among these were West Springfield, Canton, Framingham, Greenfield and Agawam.

In the county of York, Pa., registration of new voters took place between March 1 and March 31. In 1952, York County, admittedly normally Democratic, went for Eisenhower by a fat majority of about 5,000. But the Democrats claim York is heavily Democratic

Secretary Dulles Briefs Ambassadors On Hopes And Aspirations For Geneva

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Just a few hours before he flew to Geneva, John Foster Dulles, the earnest, indefatigable secretary of state, called in the ambassadors of Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, the Philippines and South Korea to give them a briefing on his hopes and aspirations for the conference opening today.

All were sworn to secrecy. However, here are the highlights of his talk: Red China will not be recognized. . . . The U.S.A. will walk out of the conference rather than desert her smaller allies. . . . There must be complete freedom in Indochina. France is gradually coming around to this point of view. . . . Under no circumstances will the United States permit Indochina to come under Communist control. . . . He ducked, however, the question of using U. S. troops.

The above conference, though ambiguous, was pleasant. It offset in part another series of ambassadorial conferences Dulles had with the same envoys approximately two weeks ago—conferences which precipitated the secretary's rush trip to Paris and London to calm down our chief allies.

This whole series of events illustrates our somewhat haphazard, at times disjointed policy regarding Indochina, in which the vice president says in one speech that we will use troops in Indochina if necessary, and the secretary of state than says we probably won't.

Entire Geneva Picture

To get the whole picture it's necessary to go back to the beginning when Dulles first attempted to rouse the American public about dangers in Indochina in his speech before the Council of Foreign Relations. Though it was a vitally important pronouncement of a change in American foreign policy, copies of the speech were sent to Allied embassies only four hours in advance, and with no comment or explanation.

But later, the State Department, belatedly realizing that we would need allies in Indochina, called in the ambassadors chiefly concerned with Southeast Asia, including not only those mentioned above, but Indonesia, Burma, India, France and England.

The ambassadors were summoned rather hurriedly, and the Indonesian ambassador, who had asked for an appointment with a minor State Department official over a minor problem, was surprised when told Secretary Dulles himself would see the ambassador.

Puzzled Envoys

Later, some of the ambassadors got peeved because the State Department said they had asked to see Dulles, whereas, Dulles had asked to see them.

However, what really set the diplomatic cables buzzing across two oceans was what Dulles said. He wanted:

1. A stiff, blunt warning by the Allies to the Reds in Indochina—a warning which some envoys feared would be the first step toward war.

2. A NATO defense organization for Southeast Asia.

However, Dulles didn't have any facts, figures or concrete plans for a NATO, and the first thing the ambassadors did was put their heads together after they left the State Department and compare notes. They weren't at all sure what these State Department talks meant, and some felt that Dulles had gone off half-cocked.

So the British and French envoys, among others, sent hot cables to London and Paris.

The repercussions were terrific. Premier Laniel in Paris explained to the American embassy that any such tough action as Dulles contemplated would lead to the downfall of his government. And from London came word that if Dulles persisted in his tough tactics, it would lead to general elections in England.

Anthony Eden reinforced this by suggesting that it might be a good idea for the secretary of state to talk things over in Europe, especially because Churchill was toying with the idea of flying to Washington. Eden knew, of course, that there was nothing that annoyed Eisenhower more than the prospect of shouting in the deaf ear of the venerable prime minister of England regarding the hydrogen bomb and Indochina.

Dulles Quits Storm

So Dulles made his hurried trip. On it he achieved no success in getting a warning to the Reds, or any advance pledge of an Asiatic NATO prior to the Geneva Conference. He did get a pledge to consider an Asiatic NATO if the Geneva Conference failed.

However, he scored one important unpublicized point. He got a promise from Foreign Minister Bidault that France would not go ahead with its settlement for Indochina proposed on March 5. This would have meant the loss of part of Indochina, yet the French were so fed up that they were ready to press for peace at this or almost any price.

Bidault had been talking to the Russians for some time before Dulles got to Paris and had made considerable headway toward a negotiated peace. So Dulles' greatest achievement actually was not mentioned in the cooked-up press releases issued after his talks, but the fact that he stopped this French semi-surrender. In return, he secretly agreed to a cease-fire in Indochina, if the French can work it out at Geneva without yielding anything important.

Geneva Merry-Go-Round

Secretary Dulles considers the Geneva Conference so important that he's taken more than 80 State Department employees with him. . . . The British report that a Russian MIG flew over Hong Kong during Dulles' talks in London. They believe this was a deliberate warning to remind the British how vulnerable Hong Kong is. . . . Republicans and Democrats alike turned down Secretary Dulles' plea that a congressional delegation of advisers accompany him to Geneva.

House Speaker Martin and Majority Leader Knowland said they could not spare anyone in view of the close votes expected on the President's domestic legislation. And the Democratic leadership just said: "No, thanks." The reason, though they didn't tell Dulles, was that they don't want any Democrats negotiating with the Chinese Communists.

Reasons For Layoffs

By Roger W. Babson

WASHINGTON, D. C.—I am convinced that the present figures on unemployment are very misleading. With retail sales holding up reasonably well, these figures surely are not due to any so-called "business depression." The public must learn that we can now have both unemployment and reasonable prosperity at the same time.

Pills and Figures

The basic reasons for the present number of unemployed are: (1) our increased population; (2) the large number of women employed; and (3) the constantly increasing number of able-bodied persons over 65 years of age. It can honestly be said that many in this older-age group are listed in the "unemployed" category who would not have been so classified some years ago. The vitamin pills taken by older people undoubtedly keep more of these people now than there were 25 years ago!

The constant introduction of new automatic machinery results in both unemployment and continued prosperity. One of my associates just visited a chemical plant where three men are now doing the work of eighty men. Fertilizing plowed fields have been done by hauling fertilizer in bags to the field, opening the bags and sprinkling the fertilizer by hand. Now an airplane loads with fertilizer at the factory and carries it in bulk to the fields, where it is sprayed on the ground from the air. No manual labor, no bags, and better results.

Offsetting High Labor Costs

The rapid increase in self-service stores and coin machines is another illustration of how greater sales are handled with fewer clerks. This also reduces chances of loss to the stores from dishonest clerks who do not ring up sales properly. The practice followed by most modern super-markets will be adopted by many stores in other lines. All these changes have been forced upon manufacturers and merchants by union labor leaders. And the resultant unemployment is due to prosperity—not to depression.

What Is The Solution?

Readers will say: "But these unemployed people cannot buy goods unless they have wages. And, unless more goods are bought, unemployment will continue." But Washington has a solution, which is (1) an increase in the minimum wage for those who are employed; (2) a reduction in the legal hours for a working week. This would mean reducing the 40-hour week to 35 or 37½ hours.

My forecast is that there is no permanent solution of the problem. It will always be a race between the labor leaders, for higher wages or shorter hours—and the employers, for more automatic machinery. Sometimes labor will be ahead; other times the employers. Labor has been on top the past 20 years. Now the employers are having their turn. So it goes! Let us hope the employers will not overreach for at least another 20 years.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Meat, declares a Michigan scientist, may some day be pasteurized by exposing it to radioactive "ashes." Gosh, does this forecast the atom-bomb?

"It's harder to be a consistently good winner than a consistently good loser"—editorial. Could be, but we'd sure like to put it to the test.

Sale of cheese and crackers in England has jumped 50 per cent since they have become the favorite television-watching snack of Britons. Lucky for the British—they have no beer commercials to make 'em thirsty.

"Why," asks a reader, "does the worst weather always happen weekends?" Maybe it's because we have more time to notice it.

In Canton, China, a thoroughfare has had its name changed from Resist Japan Street to Resist American Street. If the Red Chinese were honest about it, they'd call it Obey Moscow Boulevard.

The Communist threat to world peace, says Adm. Arthur W. Radford, could last a century. Gosh, in such an event it would be a case of not the first but the next 100 years proving the hardest!

A bathroom—and a daughter.

After a weekend at a super-deluxe resort hotel in Palm Beach, a tourist quite expected the roof to fall in on him when bill-paying time arrived, but he wasn't prepared for a three-page, itemized account. He managed to identify every item but the very last one—which was the smallest (only a dollar). He was told it was for stationery. "But," he pointed out, "I didn't use any stationery." "The stationery referred to," explained the cashier loftily, "is the paper on which this bill is made out!"

The theory of NATO and of its offspring, the European Defense Community, was that the nations of Western Europe would be supported, strengthened and, in a measure, protected by the United States until they were able to build defenses of their own and to create a European army. Then the American troops in Europe would come home.

Every dollar that the American taxpayer spent on these enterprises was designed to bring our sons home from Europe. Some of us have said from the beginning of NATO that the Americans would not be brought home; that the Europeans had developed a habit of dependence, a state of mind of letting Uncle Sam do it. We were ridiculed as negativists who never saw the shining light behind the black clouds of permanent war.

The President of the United States has guaranteed France that American troops will remain in Europe until the danger of war is over. In this lies danger itself because to the French, their principal antagonist is not Russia but Germany. To us, Germany is the main bulwark in Europe of our defenses, the only Western European nation that we can, at the moment, surely depend upon in a conflict with Russia.

On the one hand, then, we build up the military power of West Germany; on the other hand, we must stand as a military force to safeguard France against the possibility of the diversion of West Germany's regained strength from defense against Russia to war on France. The United States is caught in the middle.

The French have apparently dumped the Indochina War into our responsibilities in return for accepting the European Defense Community—and for votes with us at the Geneva Conference. This may be regarded as an outstanding victory for John Foster Dulles. But is it a victory for the United States?

The war in Korea might perhaps be justified on the grounds that it was designed to liberate a people from enslavement by the Soviet Universal State. To a degree, this could be true about the Indochina War, except that to that is added the factor of French colonialism. Americans are emotionally opposed to colonialism. Until it is clear that it is the intention of the United States to liberate Indochina from both the Soviet Universal State and the French, it will be difficult for the administration to sell the idea of sending huge American forces to Indochina. Thus far, only Thailand—the next country to be endangered should Indochina fall—shows any vital interest in a Far Eastern NATO.

Should a Far Eastern NATO be arranged, Americans will ask about percentages. Are we to provide approximately 90 per cent of the troops in Indochina as we did in Korea? Are we to pay the entire bill for such a war? Are we to be permitted to attack the big supply centers in Kweilin and the island of Hainan, or are we to recognize as sanctuaries the areas of supplies and recruitments in Red China as we recognized Manchuria as a sanctuary for the Red Chinese and therefore lost a war? Are we to fight military war with a clear target, or are we to fight a political war with no target and with inhibitions as we did in Korea?

The President, under treaties, may send American troops anywhere without consulting the Congress. If the war in Indochina is a revolution for liberation, the President is not empowered to send American troops to that country, but if the war in Indochina is a Soviet attempt to violate the rights of France, the President, by treaty, is empowered to send an army of any size to that country without consulting Congress. The constitutional provision that only Congress can make war is thus vitiated by treaty.

And if we lose Indochina as we lost in Korea, shall we fight in Thailand and in Burma? That very question forces us to realize that we cannot lose the Indochina War, once we get deeply into it, without getting into two more wars in this area. But what will it cost in human life to win this war unless we use atomic and thermonuclear bombs? Shall we have to lose another 40,000 lives as we did in Korea? Is Britain's rejection of the use of bombs against the mainland of China worth 40,000 American lives?

Incredible As It May Seem

Democrats See Favorable Trend But GOP Belittles It

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

How do you recognize a political trend when you see one? This question is raised because the Democrats in Congress are claiming to discern a very strong trend in their favor. They say that this trend first became visible with the autumn election upsets in Wisconsin and New Jersey, and that it has steadily gathered momentum ever since.

House minority whip John McCormack, for example, stoutly maintains that the Democrats today could easily win the House by a majority of 40 to 60 seats. There is also increasing talk among the Democrats of capturing the Senate—a much more different feat.

The Republicans, for their part, maintain just as stoutly that the alleged trend is a figment of the Democratic imagination, heavily tinged with political propaganda. What follows, then, is the evidence which the Democrats advance to support their claim. Whether or not this evidence is substantially valid, the reader may be allowed to judge for himself.

First, there are the polls, for whatever they are worth. The Democrats point with pride to the following recent polls:

A Minnesota poll showing Sen. Hubert Humphrey, who was once thought to be in danger, with an amazingly comfortable lead over his opponent.

Big Percentage Favorable
A Denver, Col., poll showing a 27-point drop from last June in those thinking the administration was doing a "good" job, and an 11-point drop in those thinking the administration was doing a "good" or "fair" job. (But, it should be pointed out, a whopping 82 per cent still think the administration is doing at least fairly well.)

A poll of eight states from the Republican mid-west, by the industrious Dr. Gallup, showing the

Democrats rapidly closing in on the Republicans.
A Texas poll showing a 12 per cent drop from last August in the administration's popularity.

Second, there was the recent voting in Tucson, Ariz., Santa Fe, N.Mex., and in certain small and medium-sized Massachusetts towns; and the registration in the county of York, Pa.

In the last two elections, in 1952 and 1953, Tucson elected six Republican members of the city council and a Republican mayor, by handsome majorities. In the election held on April 6, three seats on the city council were disputed and all three were handily won by Democrats.

As always, there were local factors—for one thing, the influential "Arizona Daily Star," which supported the Republicans in 1952, backed the Democrats on this go round. But William Matthews, highly knowledgeable editor and publisher of the "Star," himself believes that the Tucson vote had real national significance. Moreover, exactly the same pattern held in the municipal election in Santa Fe, held on the same day.

GOP Straws Favorable Too
In Massachusetts, a whole slew of small to medium towns, some of which had never elected a Democrat to office practically since the Revolution, went Democratic. Among these were West Springfield, Canton, Framingham, Greenfield and Agawam.

In the county of York, Pa., registration of new voters took place between March 1 and March 31. In 1952, York County, admittedly normally Democratic, went for Eisenhower by a fat majority of about 5,000. But the Democrats claim York is heavily Democratic again—new voters registered Democratic by a proportion of two-to-one, and switched registrations were in the same proportion.

Finally—or so the Democrats claim—the response at Democratic rallies proves that a new Democratic spirit is abroad in the land. According to the Democrats, people fight for the privilege of paying their hard-earned money in order to eat tough chicken and hear the Republicans lambasted.

At a $25 a head rally in Philadelphia, John McCormack filled the huge Bellevue-Stratford Hotel to the bursting point. At a more recent rally in a Virginia district which went Republican in 1952, House Minority Leader Sam Rayburn was almost mobbed. And so on.

How much does all this mean? The Republicans claim that it means little or nothing. They point to favorable straws-in-the-wind of their own—like the Republican sweep in a municipal election in Tulsa, Okla. They also point to still more polls showing President Eisenhower's popularity holding up remarkably (the Democrats cheerfully admit—but they claim that the President's popularity won't help the Republicans come November.)

The Republicans, in moments of frankness, do concede some drop-off from the post-election high point of Republican popularity, but they contend, reasonably enough, that this was inevitable in the normal course of events. On balance, it does seem fair to say that the Democrats have been gaining, and gaining fairly heavily in some areas. But no one claims to know how decisive this trend is—or how it might be affected by the McCarthy circus, the economic situation, or the growing crisis in the Far East.

Early Diagnosis Is Big Help In Fight To Cure Cancer

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The mystery of cancer has been stressed to such an extent that many regard the condition as hopeless. This defeatist attitude is unnecessary, even though we do not know the cause of cancer or why it develops in one individual and not in another. In addition, Mr. John Q. Public is always looking toward the discovery of a remedy like penicillin that will cure cancer, as though all malignancies represented a single disease. This question: "When will they find a cure for cancer?"

The disorder is being cured every day through surgery, radiation, and radioactive isotopes. But these measures are successful only when the abnormality is recognized early, before it has spread beyond the confines of the original lesion.

In other words, the problem is not cure but early diagnosis. The latter is not as difficult as it once was, now that beginning symptoms are well known. The bottleneck lies with the individual, and if more of us were to make use of what we already know along this line, the present death rate might well be cut in half.

What are early symptoms? Bleeding from any body opening must be viewed with suspicion. Cancer may not be responsible, but why gamble? Investigations of this type are neither difficult nor time consuming. A "lump," or thickening anywhere in the body, especially in the breast or on the lip, is due either to inflammation or tumor. If tumor is the cause, it is either benign or malignant. In addition to "lumps," the breast must be observed also for changes in size or shape. Unexplained bleeding from the nipple is another warning signal.

Sores that do not heal, particularly on the face, tongue, or lips or in the mouth are potentially dangerous. The same can be said of a mole, wart, or birthmark that changes in size or shape. Unexplained loss of weight, difficulty in swallowing, unusual cough, and persistent hoarseness also may stem from a potentially cancerous lesion. Nine times out of 10, the cause is innocent but the penalty for making an error is too great to take a chance.

Indigestion and changes in bowel habits after the age of 40 call for X-ray studies, particularly when there is progressive constipation or alternate periods of constipation and diarrhea in a person who never was bothered along this line before. Cancer of the stomach is not easy to diagnose in an early stage, consequently anyone with a family history of this condition should be on guard whenever stomach trouble persists or indigestion develops after eating or drinking.

TOMORROW: The sick child needs diversion.

CARCINOMA

Mrs. L. writes: What are the symptoms of cancer of the breast? REPLY
The presence of a mass is the most common symptom but others include dimpling of the breast or erosion of or discharge from the nipple.

PENICILLIN HIVES

I. S. writes: I broke out into giant hives all over my body after taking penicillin shots. Does this mean I can't take the drug any more without developing hives? REPLY

Yes, but this does not mean that you may not have penicillin again in case of emergency. In such instances, an antihistaminic drug is given at the same time. Furthermore, other antibiotics are available that are almost as good as penicillin.

FACIAL NEURALGIA

E. L. writes: Is there any hope of cure in tic douloureux at age 64? REPLY

The chances of cure are just as good at 64 as at 46. When the disturbance is stubborn, and resists simpler treatments, it may be necessary to inject alcohol into the involved nerve or destroy it surgically.

ACHING CALF

J. W. writes: A few days after I was vaccinated against smallpox, my left calf began to ache. I'm 65 years old. Could this pain be related to vaccination? REPLY

No. Reactions to vaccination usually occur 10 days after the injection is given and consist of fever, and a local reaction at the site of the injection. At 65, pain in the calf usually is of circulatory origin.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Secretary Dulles Briefs Ambassadors On Hopes And Aspirations For Geneva

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Just a few hours before he flew to Geneva, John Foster Dulles, the earnest, indefatigable secretary of state, called in the ambassadors of Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, the Philippines and South Korea to give them a briefing on his hopes and aspirations for the conference opening today.

All were sworn to secrecy. However, here are the highlights of his talk: Red China will not be recognized... The U.S.A. will walk out of the conference rather than desert her smaller allies... There must be complete freedom in Indochina. France is gradually coming around to this point of view... Under no circumstances will the United States permit Indochina to come under Communist control... He ducked, however, the question of using U. S. troops.

The above conference, though ambiguous, was pleasant. It offset in part another series of ambassadorial conferences Dulles had with the same envoys approximately two weeks ago—conferences which precipitated the secretary's rush trip to Paris and London to calm down our chief allies.

This whole series of events illustrates our somewhat haphazard, at times disjointed policy regarding Indochina, in which the vice president says in one speech that we will use troops in Indochina if necessary, and the secretary of state than says we probably won't.

Entire Geneva Picture
To get the whole picture it's necessary to go back to the beginning when Dulles first attempted to rouse the American public about dangers in Indochina in his speech before the Council of Foreign Relations. Though it was a vitally important pronouncement of a change in American foreign policy, copies of the speech were sent to Allied embassies only four hours in advance, and with no comment or explanation.

But later, the State Department, belatedly realizing that we would need allies in Indochina, called in the ambassadors chiefly concerned with Southeast Asia, including not only those mentioned above, but Indonesia, Burma, India, France and England.

The ambassadors were summoned rather hurriedly, and the Indonesian ambassador, who had asked for an appointment with a minor State Department official over a minor problem, was surprised when told Secretary Dulles himself would see the ambassador.

Puzzled Envoys
Later, some of the ambassadors got peeved because the State Department said they had asked to see Dulles, whereas Dulles had asked to see them.

However, what really set the diplomatic cables buzzing across two oceans was what Dulles said. He wanted:

1. A stiff, blunt warning by the Allies to the Reds in Indochina—a warning which some envoys feared would be the first step toward war.

2. A NATO defense organization for Southeast Asia.
However, Dulles didn't have any facts, figures or concrete plans for a NATO, and the first thing the ambassadors did was put their heads together after they left the State Department and compare notes. They weren't at all sure what these State Department talks meant, and some felt that Dulles had gone off half-cocked.

So the British and French envoys, among others, sent hot cables to London and Paris.

The repercussions were terrific. Premier Laniel in Paris explained to the American embassy that any such tough action as Dulles contemplated would lead to the downfall of his government. And from London came word that if Dulles persisted in his tough tactics, it would lead to general elections in England.

Anthony Eden reinforced this by suggesting that it might be a good idea for the secretary of state to talk things over in Europe, especially because Churchill was toying with the idea of flying to Washington. Eden knew, of course, that there was nothing that annoyed Eisenhower more than the prospect of shouting in the deaf ear of the venerable prime minister of England regarding the hydrogen bomb and Indochina.

Dulles Quits Storm
So Dulles made his hurried trip. On it he achieved no success in getting a warning to the Reds, or any advance pledge of an Asiatic NATO prior to the Geneva Conference. He did get a pledge to consider an Asiatic NATO if the Geneva Conference failed.

However, he scored one important unpublicized point. He got a promise from Foreign Minister Bidault that France would not go ahead with its settlement for Indochina proposed on March 5. This would have meant the loss of part of Indochina, yet the French were so fed up that they were ready to press for peace at this or almost any price.

Bidault had been talking to the Russians for some time before Dulles got to Paris and had made considerable headway toward a negotiated peace. So Dulles' greatest achievement actually was not mentioned in the cooked-up press releases issued after his talks, but the fact that he stopped this French semi-surrender. In return, he secretly agreed to a cease-fire in Indochina, if the French can work it out at Geneva without yielding any important territory.

Geneva Merry-Go-Round

Secretary Dulles considers the Geneva Conference so important that he's taken more than 80 State Department employees with him... The British report that a Russian MIG flew over Hong Kong during Dulles' talks in London. They believe this was a deliberate warning to remind the British how vulnerable Hong Kong is... Republicans and Democrats alike turned down Secretary Dulles' plea that a congressional delegation of advisers accompany him to Geneva. House Speaker Martin and Majority Leader Knowland said they could not spare anyone in view of the close votes expected on the President's domestic legislation. And the Democratic leadership just said: "No, thanks." The reason, though they didn't tell Dulles, was that they didn't want any Democrats negotiating with the Chinese Communists.

Reasons For Layoffs

By Roger W. Babson

WASHINGTON, D. C.—I am convinced that the present figures on unemployment are very misleading. With retail sales holding up reasonably well, these figures surely are not due to any so-called "business depression." The public must learn that we can now have both unemployment and reasonable prosperity at the same time.

Pills and Figures
The basic reasons for the present number of unemployed are: (1) our increased population; (2) the large number of women employed; and (3) the constantly increasing number of able-bodied persons over 65 years of age. It can hardly be said that many in this older-age group are listed in the "unemployed" category who would not have been so classified some years ago. The vitamin pills taken by older people undoubtedly keep more of these people now than there were 25 years ago!

The constant introduction of new automatic machinery results in both unemployment and continued prosperity. One of my associates just visited a chemical plant where three men are now doing the work of eighty men. Fertilizing plowed fields have been done by hauling fertilizer in bags to the field, opening the bags and sprinkling the fertilizer by hand. Now an airplane loads with fertilizer at the factory and carries it in bulk to the fields, where it is sprayed on the ground from the air. No manual labor, no bags, and better results.

Offsetting High Labor Costs

The rapid increase in self-service stores and coin machines is another illustration of how greater sales are handled with fewer clerks. This also reduces chances of loss to the stores from dishonest clerks who do not ring up sales properly. The practice followed by most modern super-markets will be adopted by many stores in other lines. All these changes have been forced upon manufacturers and merchants by union labor leaders. And the resultant unemployment is due to prosperity—not to depression.

What Is The Solution?

Readers will say: "But these unemployed people cannot buy goods unless they have wages. And, unless more goods are bought, unemployment will continue." But Washington has a solution, which is (1) an increase in the minimum wage for those who are employed; (2) a reduction in the legal hours for a working week. This would mean reducing the 40-hour week to 35 or 37½ hours.

My forecast is that there is no permanent solution of the problem. It will always be a race between the labor leaders, for higher wages or shorter hours—and the employers, for more automatic machinery. Sometimes labor will be ahead, other times the employers. Labor has been on top the past 20 years. Now the employers are having their turn. So it goes! Let us hope the employers will not overreach for at least another 20 years.

You're Telling Me!

Meat, declares a Michigan scientist, may some day be pasteurized by exposing it to radioactive "ashes." Gosh, does this forecast the atomburger?

"It's harder to be a consistently good winner than a consistently good loser"—editorial. Could be, but we'd sure like to put it to the test.

Sale of cheese and crackers in England has jumped 50 per cent since they have become the favorite television-watching snack of Britons. Lucky for the British—they have no beer commercials to make 'em thirsty.

"Why," asks a reader, "does the worst weather always happen weekends?" Maybe it's because we have more time to notice it.

In Canton, China, a thoroughfare has had its name changed from Resist Japan Street to Resist American Street. If the Red Chinese were honest about it they'd call it Obey Moscow Boulevard.

The Communist threat to world peace, says Adm. Arthur W. Radford, could last a century. Gosh, in such an event it would be a case of not the first but the next 100 years proving the hardest!

YOU CAN'T WASTE TIME
 You can take your time in your efforts to defeat many contracts you face, striving to develop a late-round trick or tricks which may decide the issue. But tactics of that type must be abandoned instantly if you see in the dummy a great long solid suit, on which you realize the declarer may discard practically as many losing cards as he desires, once he gains control of the play. Then you either take your setting tricks at once, or not at all. You can't waste any time.

One of those take-a-quick-look players in the East won the diamond 9 lead with the A, then noted the dummy's shortage in the red suits, so decided to limit the dummy's ruffing ability by returning his A-Q tenace over the dummy's spade K. Lot of good that did him, as South's 9 won the spade 6 and the heart 4 was promptly discarded on the diamond K.

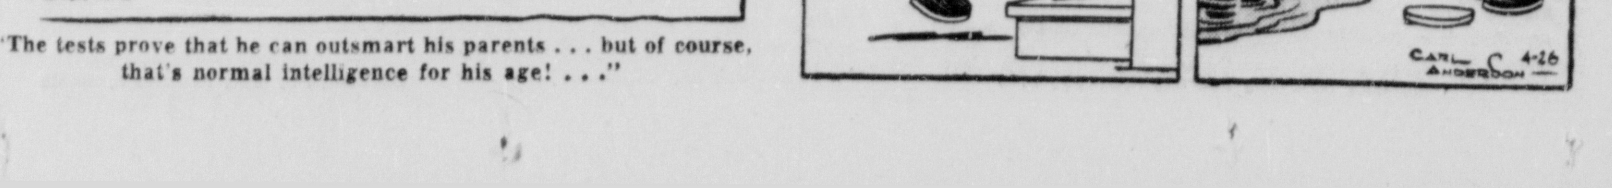

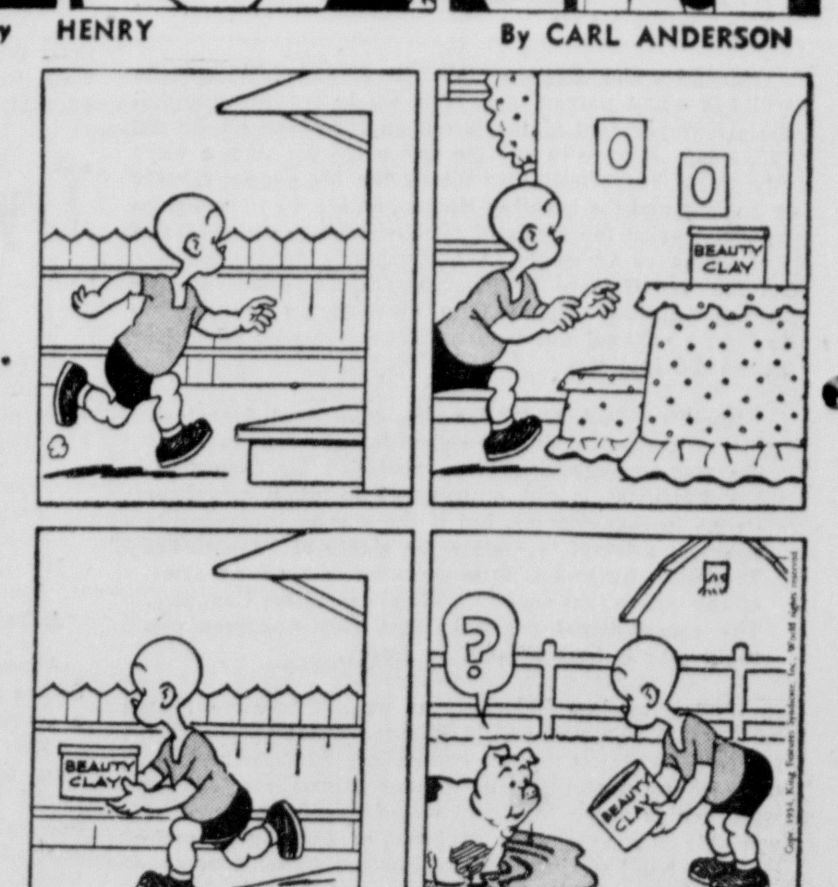

It requires no clairvoyance now to foresee the breeze along blithely to a successful contract, losing tricks only to East's trump.

Frostburg's Demons took the measure of Cumberland's Old Germans, 7-5. Moorefield American Legion downed the Romney Rockets, 5-2, and Centerville (Pa.) edged the Westvaco Papermakers, 5-4, as the newly formed All-States Baseball Association launched its 1954 campaign yesterday in games at Frostburg, Romney and Centerville.

Robert "Coco" Blair outpitched George and Norman Geatz and Denny Shuck and Rickey Harris belted home runs as Frostburg defeated the 1953 champions of the Bi-State League before a large turnout in the Mountain City. Blair yielded nine hits, fanned eight and yielded five walks while George and Norman Geatz were nipped for 12 safeties. Eight of the blows yielded by LaSalle coach George Geatz in 4 1/2 innings included the circuit blasts by LaSalle players. Shuck hit his round-tripper in the third and also rapped a single while Harris hit over the left field barrier in the 4th with a mate aboard and also slapped a three-bagger. "Bubbles" Thompson collected a double and two singles and "Chuck" Elrich had two one-base blows for the Demons.

Jimmy Eckard led the Old Germans at the plate with a double and two singles while Comer a d cage lapped doubles.

Thompson, Frostburg center-fielder, and Shortstop Shuck turned in sensational fielding plays.

Mayor Jesse Jacobs tossed out the first ball, a "knuckler," which was caught by League President Frank J. Davis. The Arion Band played for opening day ceremonies.

Centerville Wins, 5-4
Centerville staged a two-run rally in the eighth inning at the expense of Augie Elchhorn to come from behind and beat the Papermakers.

With Centerville trailing, 4-3, John Growden walked to open the eighth. Baker, batting for Glenn Deremer, flied out. Then Manager Glentis Street doubled home Growden with the tying marker and Vervyle Nave singled and Street raced across the plate with what proved to be the winning run.

Ocie Raines of Westvaco hit a homer after Elchhorn had tripled to give the visitors two runs in the third stanza.

Deremer, who got credit for the win, struck out eight and was re-

A pair of shutouts marked inaugural games in the Pen-Mar Baseball League yesterday as Grantsville, of last year's Bi-State loop ran roughshod over Zihlman, 22-0, and Barrelville skunked Keyser Ridge, the defending champions, 8-0, in contests at Zihlman and Keyser Ridge.

Mt. Savage, formerly of the Bi-State League, dropped a 10-5 decision to Eckhart and Hyndman, of the 1953 Bedford County League, outslugging Wellersburg to win by the score of 14-6.

Hunter Hurts 4-Hitter
Lester Hunter tossed a four-hit in pitching Grantsville to victory. His mates solved the offerings of Neil Sween, Folk and Don Robeson for 14 hits which included two doubles by Joe Wenger, a two-bagger and single by Bill Durr and a triple by Bill See. Harold Miller obtained two of Zihlman's hits. The game was limited to seven innings by agreement.

Glenn Ford and Kauffman scattered six hits as Barrelville put Keyser Ridge on a nine-inning goose egg diet.

The winners touched Bob Keister and George Richards for 11 blows. Bill Morgan and Carl Meyers sparked the Barrelville attack with three hits each while Merle See hit safely twice. Bill Fischer had two hits for the Riders while George Drew at short contributed a pair of sensational catches.

Clites, Pushwal Homer
Twenty-seven hits were registered in the Hyndman-Wellersburg contest. Hyndman blasted Ralph Baker, Jerry Loibel and Paul Shaffer for 17, including circuit wallop by Clites and Clyde Pushwal. Clites had four hits in five trips. Pushwal's homer came with two mates aboard. Jim Leydig and May garnered three hits each. Shaffer and Kennell had two hits each for Wellersburg. Jack Ritchey, who supplanted Glenn Evans in the second inning, got credit for the win while Baker was the loser.

Allan LaPorta pounded a three-run homer in the fifth and Jim Yantz tripled with the bases loaded in the 7th as Eckhart took the measure of Mt. Savage. The fielding highlight in this game was a brilliant running catch by Bill Watkins, Eckhart left fielder, which retired the side in the 7th with two runners on the bases.

Felker, Whiffs Nine
Clarence Felker, Eckhart starting pitcher, was the winner. He fanned nine. Don Hansel came on in the ninth to finish.

LaPorta got a single in addition to his four-bagger while Joe Carter pounded a two-bagger. Ira Watkins slapped a triple and "Bink" King socked a double for Mt. Savage.

Podres Wins Second, Thomas Hits Homer

PITTSBURGH, April 25 (AP) — Brooklyn southpaw Johnny Podres held Pittsburgh to three hits for a sparkling 4-2 victory today after the Pirates, propelled by the booming bats of Frank Thomas and Curt Roberts, whipped the Dodgers 9-3 in the first doubleheader of the season here.

Exercising masterful control, Podres, gave up only three walks and two extra-base blows—a triple by outfielder Jerry Lynch in the third which scored both of Pittsburgh's runs and a double by Thomas. He struck out six.

Thomas smashed a three-run homer for the Pirates in the first inning of the opener and chipped in with two singles to pace Pittsburgh. Roberts doubled in the seventh with the bases loaded, emptying the sacks, to highlight a five-run outburst.

Play Valley Today Aggies At LaSalle, AHS Hosts Hyndman

Fort Hill High School puts a four-game winning streak on the line today when it faces Valley High School in a Bi-State Baseball Conference contest at Barton.

Lefty Wayne Murray, who defeated Hyndman, 5-0, and Bruce 12-2, is slated to work on the rubber for the Sentinels, now the only unbeaten team in the league. Todd Cuthbertson is slated to toil on the hill for the Black Knights who are now tied for third place with Allegany, each team owning a 2-1 record.

LaSalle High's Explorers, now occupying the runner-up spot, will tangle with Flintstone's Aggies, winless in four starts, today at Penn Avenue Field.

The second local attraction on tap for today is the Allegany-Hyndman game at Campobello. Both the Campers and Hyndman suffered 7-0 and 2-1 setbacks on Friday and they'll be striving to get in the column.

In the fourth Monday contest, Bruce High (2-2) plays host to Beall (1-3) at Westernport.

Enjoy blessed relief from swollen, aching joints, arthritis, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago or neuralgia — or no cost to you for trying this prescription formula called Muscle-Aid, widely used by hospitals, massage parlors and doctors, coaches and trainers for muscle soreness, strained ligaments, painful sprains and bruises.

To get safe, quick relief, simply apply this pleasantly scented liquid EXTERNALLY wherever you feel pain — limbs, joints, shoulders, neck, back. Note how much more comfortable you feel all day, how many hours of restful sleep you get at night.

"My patients and I are more than pleased. Warmth supplied soothes and produces circulation to carry off toxins. Nothing compares to Muscle-Aid for relieving the suffering from arthritis and kindred pains," states T. T. Connor, physiotherapist, Philadelphia.

Money Back Guarantee

Get Muscle-Aid today from your Druggist. Use half the bottle. If you are not delighted with results, return for refund. Regular economy or hospital size bottle $2.00, or $1.00 Special Trial Size ONLY.

The company sponsoring the contest, Kentucky Club Tobacco, will foot the bill for the animal's care until May 15. After that Mrs. Foley will either have to sell it or keep it.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Lionel J. Moreland, Plaintiff, vs. George Virginia Moreland, Defendant. No. 23622 Equity, Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce a Vinculo Matrimonii of the Plaintiff from the defendant. The parties hereto were married on June 30, 1951, in Cumberland, Maryland, and the defendant deserted the plaintiff, without just cause or excuse, and said desertion has continued uninterruptedly for more than 18 months prior to the filing of the Bill herein, and the parties have not cohabited as man and wife during said period. That there is no reasonable hope or expectation of a reconciliation, and said desertion has continued uninterruptedly for more than 18 months prior to the filing of the Bill herein, and the parties have not cohabited as man and wife during said period. That there is no reasonable hope or expectation of a reconciliation, and said desertion has continued uninterruptedly for more than 18 months prior to the filing of the Bill herein, and the parties have not cohabited as man and wife during said period.

IT IS THEREUPON this 17th day of April, 1954, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper, once a week, for four successive weeks before the 20th day of May, 1954, give notice to the said absent defendant of the object and purpose of this suit and warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 7th day of June, 1954, to show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of our dear son,
Robert C. Harman, who passed away
one year ago, April 26, 1953.
If I had seen you to the last,
And held your dying hand,
And heard the last sigh from your heart,
We would not feel so bad.
We did not see you die,
We only know you went far away,
And never said goodbye.
Sadly missed by his parents.

Canal Parkway Decision To Be Completed Soon

Secretary McKay Writes County Man

A decision about construction of the C&O Canal Parkway will be made soon, Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay has disclosed in a letter just received by an Allegany County resident.

Secretary McKay's letter to Ross F. Shaw of Oldtown is an answer to one the Oldtown man directed March 6 to President Eisenhower urging construction of the parkway.

The secretary's letter dated April 23 to Shaw:

"The letter of March 6, which you addressed to the President, urging that a parkway be constructed along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, has been referred to this department.

Aware Of Conditions

"The proposal to develop a canal park and parkway has been the subject of considerable discussion and publicity in the newspapers during the past few weeks, but a final plan for its development has not been crystallized. We are aware, as your letter points out, of the unemployment which exists in Western Maryland, particularly in Cumberland, and we feel confident that the program of the present administration will take every action within its power to aid such areas from economic distress.

"We wish it were possible to tell you at this time whether a parkway will or will not be constructed in the near future on the Federal Government's holdings along the Potomac River; however, such a decision will be made soon," McKay concluded.

Meanwhile, Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has sent Secretary McKay recommendations for making the canal area accessible to the public.

Report Cited

The recommendations came from a committee which made the canal hike last month, but were sent to McKay as a "preliminary report" signed by Justice Douglas as chairman. The committee included the Justice, who has opposed a road along the canal from Washington to Cumberland, and Robert H. Estabrook, editor of the editorial page of The Washington Post and Times-Herald, who had urged construction of a parkway. The conflict produced the hike.

The committee agreed, and so recommended to McKay, that the canal property should be preserved as part of the National Park System and developed as a recreational area with an adequate budget for maintenance and supervision.

Registrars Will Sit At LaVale

Substitute registrars of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors will begin their third and final week of the current tour to sign up new county voters when they sit at the LaVale Fire Hall this afternoon and tonight.

Mrs. Zena J. Davis and John R. Kelly, the substitutes, will be at LaVale from 1 until 4 p. m. and again from 6 until 9 p. m.

Tomorrow they will sit at the Cresaptown School from 1 until 4 p. m. and again from 6 until 9 p. m. Wednesday they will be at the Ellerslie Community Building from 1 until 4 a. m. and at the Corriganville Fire Hall from 6 until 9 p. m. Thursday they will be at the Eckhart School from 1 until 4 p. m. and again from 6 until 9 p. m. On Friday they will be at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory from 9 a. m. until noon and from 1 until 4 p. m. That will end the current tour.

Registrars will revisit Westernport, Lonaconing, Frostburg and Mt. Savage May 26, 27, 28 and 29, the last four days of registration for those who wish to vote in the June 28 county primary election.

In the past two weeks, Mrs. Davis and Kelly have signed up 390 prospective new voters in nine working days, an average of 43 per day. The peak was reached when 88 were signed up at Mt. Savage.

The Weather

Ideal weather prevailed in the Cumberland area yesterday, with warm temperatures and cloudless skies allowing the city's outdoor lovers to take full advantage of the extra hour of daylight. Robert Golden, weather observer and superintendent of Constitution Park, reported that a large number of people used the park, with many of them having picnics in the convenient wooded area. Cumberland's high official temperature yesterday was 85, with the low being 57, while at 8 p. m. the mercury stood at 75 degrees. The humidity at 6 p. m. was 39 per cent. There was no appreciable amount of rainfall over the weekend, with just .14 inches reported on Friday and Saturday. Thunderstorms were expected last night, while today's forecast calls for cloudy skies and cooler temperatures, with a low of 54-60 expected.

DST Creates Usual Mixup In Vicinity

As usual, a number of Cumberland and area residents were a bit mixed up when they awoke yesterday morning and found out they had forgot to turn their watches up an hour in compliance with Daylight Saving Time.

Probably more than one churchgoer on his way to services met members of the congregation on their way home. And a lot of clocks around Cumberland were not turned up prior to the switch-over, adding to the confusion.

A spokesman for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad said the public has become "pretty well educated" to the DST, more so than in past years, and that passengers seeking transportation on that railroad "haven't been nearly so mixed up."

Quite a number of travelers seeking tickets at the Blue Ridge Bus Terminal were a "little off the track" due to fast time but were expected to get used to the changeover in a few days.

The Osgood Bus Line reported tickets running "pretty smooth." The ticket seller at the station in Keyser had to stop and think for a moment before replying to a telephone call asking what time a bus could be caught from Piedmont to Cumberland.

And the switch-over to DST renews the annual pro and con argument on the good and evil of the setup. At any rate, it's with us until September.

Byrd Receives Support From 2 More Groups

(By The Associated Press)

Boostered by support from two more county organizations, Dr. H.C. Byrd has turned to criticizing Gov. McKeldin while George P. Mahoney, Byrd's chief opponent in the Democratic gubernatorial primary, continues to criticize Byrd. State Sen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, seeking nomination for attorney general on the Byrd ticket, said in a weekend speech McKeldin had set up "an almost certain" deficit of 15 million dollars in the next State budget.

Mahoney referred once again to Byrd's fiscal policies as president of the University of Maryland. He quoted Byrd as recently explaining McKeldin's record-breaking budget as a result of the "devaluation of the dollar" but now proposing to avoid such high budgets if elected.

In 1953, said Mahoney, the university's special fund operated at a deficit of more than $800,000. "Now he wants to try his hand at 'closing the gap' between expenditures and revenue," said Mahoney.

Sybert's criticism of McKeldin came as the Cecil County Democratic State Central Committee and a "harmony" group in Queen Anne's County came out for Byrd. The harmony unit also endorsed State Sen. Edward Turner for nomination to Congress from the First District.

Sybert said McKeldin had lopped about 15 million of the money which might have been available for the next state budget by:

1. Advancing the collection date of five million dollars in gross receipts taxes, making two collections available for the next fiscal year but none for fiscal 1956-57.
2. Spending three million dollars of surplus left by former Gov. William Preston Lane's administration.
3. Reallocating 1 1/2-million in unspent previous appropriations.
4. Submitting a budget which includes five million dollars for new minimum pay increases for school teachers.

Fire Scorches Timberland On Wills Mountain

Irons Mt. Fire Hearing Slated

About two acres of second-growth timber was destroyed by fire on Wills Mountain yesterday afternoon. The fire, which broke out about 3:15 p. m., was under control within two hours and had been practically extinguished by firefighters of the district forest office.

Brook Bodkin, forest supervisor, William Slider, forest guard, and three other men, reported to the scene after receiving a call from Dans Mountain Tower.

They used a jeep with the spray pumper in fighting the flames. Shortly afterwards another call was received from Warrior Mountain Tower and 11 more men under supervision of Forest Guard George Brown joined in the fight.

Bodkin, according to William H. Johnson, district forester, questioned several people who were in the area of the blaze. The cause of the fire was not known, Johnson added.

The blaze was confined to the west side of Wills Mountain.

Meanwhile, Charles Thompson, RD 2, city, will be given a hearing tomorrow at 10 a. m. before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason, in conjunction with the forest fire which destroyed 100 acres of young timber April 21 in the Wildcat Hollow section of Irons Mountain.

Two homes were endangered in the afternoon blaze, which was brought under control by members of three volunteer fire companies and workers of the forestry department.

Bodkin said Thompson allegedly set a brush fire and allowed it to get out of control.

Pollack Trial Will Commence This Morning

James H. (Jack) Pollack, Baltimore Democratic leader, will go on trial in Allegany County Circuit Court at 9:15 a. m. today on a charge of trying to obstruct justice.

His case was transferred here after defense counsel successfully contended he could not obtain a fair trial in Baltimore.

Pollack is accused of trying to influence testimony of two witnesses in their own morals trials in Baltimore.

State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro of Baltimore will be the chief prosecutor here, assisted by members of his staff and State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher of Allegany County. G. C. A. Anderson of Baltimore is chief defense counsel with William A. Gunter assisting him as local counsel.

It is expected that Associate Judges George Henderson and Morgan C. Harris jointly will preside.

She sustained an injury to her right arm when her bicycle struck a truck owned by Richard Klavuhn, 15 Schiller Terrace.

Everett Has 'Smallest' US Railroad

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP)—A group of business men from nearby Everett, Pa., are operating what they believe is the smallest railroad in the nation.

The businessmen, headed by Frank E. Steele, went to work after a U. S. District Court order of the old Huntingdon and Broad Top Railroad abandoned. It was Everett's only rail connection with the big Pennsylvania Railroad.

Steele and his fellow townsmen went to work to solve the community problem. They incorporated and leased a section of the H. & B. T. track. The new line is known as the Everett railroad.

The Everett runs from Tatesville to Mount Dallas where it connects with the Pennsy. Steele said the line is exactly four miles long. The new outfit made its first run April 1 and has been maintaining a daily schedule since.

The new company has seven pieces of equipment—a diesel locomotive, a caboose, two motor-cars and three trailer cars. The corporation elected Steele general chairman and named Oscar Forc president. The firm's general offices and only station are located in Everett.

On the job maintaining the pride and joy of Everett citizens are eight employees—a clerk, an agent, a mechanic, an engineer, a conductor, a helper and two track-men.

The Foundation Of A Christian Life

By REV. GEORGE T. C. BELL

On what foundation do we build our hope for the future? Not now on any philosophical deductions; these may have a certain value, but they are the periods of celestial service pass away!

3. I WILL BE A LIFE OF HIGH-EST HONOR AND ELEVATION. "They are equal until the angels; and are the children of God, being the children of the resurrection." "Now are we the sons of God," and when the future life is disclosed our sonship will mean yet more to us—it will be life on a loftier plane, in a deeper and fuller sense; we shall be nearer to God, and more like Him in our faculty and in our spirit and our character.

Now we have an additional support of Christ's inference concerning this foundation. To be "the God of Abraham," he argued, meant to be the God of a living soul; he whose God was a living God was a living man in the fullest sense. For God to be our God includes everything we need. The living God is the God of living men; the loving God is the God of loving men; the blessed God is the God of happy men; the holy God is the God of holy men. All the highest good for which we long in our noblest hour is guaranteed to us in that "the everlasting God" the righteous and the faithful and the loving One, is our God.

THE HERITAGE OF THE FUTURE IS NOT PROMISED UNCONDITIONALLY. Here are "those accounted worthy to obtain" it; therefore there are those who are not worthy and will miss it. THE CONDITION THAT IS IMPLIED IS THAT OF A LIVING PERSONAL CONNECTION WITH GOD HIMSELF. Those who can truly claim Him as "their God" may confidently look forward to an eternal home in His presence and in His service. To us, to whom He has revealed Himself in His Son, this means a living union with Jesus Christ our Saviour. To know Him, to live unto Him, to abide in Him, this is life eternal.

Outstanding U.S. Sports Car Man Will Come Here

Cunningham Enters May 16 Competition

Briggs Swift Cunningham of Palm Beach, Fla., and Greens Farms, Conn., considered the ranking amateur sports car enthusiast in the entire United States, will be here Sunday, May 16, to compete in the second annual Cumberland Sports Car Races.

"At 47, Cunningham is an outstanding example of a vanishing breed: the millionaire amateur who devotes his time and money, his enthusiasm and his burning energy to the pursuit of a break-neck sport," the Time article states.

Best U. S. Road Racers

Cunningham makes automobiles (bearing his name) which are the only United States-built cars that can challenge, in classic road racing, the Ferraris and Lancias of Italy, the Jaguars of Britain, the Mercedes-Benzes of Germany.

In June, Cunningham will be out to show that his U. S. built cars can perform with the best in the world's No. 1 road race: France's famed 24-hour Grand Prix of Endurance at Le Mans.

Cunningham is coming to the Cumberland Sports Car Races at the airport May 16 at the invitation of Dr. Benedict Skitarellic, local sports car enthusiast, who has met him in Florida.

Sponsored By Lions

The local races are being sponsored again this year by the Lions Club. Much enthusiasm has been stimulated for the local races by a group in Pittsburgh, who are forming a caravan and are driving to Cumberland the morning of May 16.

The Time magazine article about Cunningham explains why sports car races are staged at airports.

"At the critical moment, just when it seemed that sports cars were about to be driven off the roads again, the Strategic Air Command's General Curtis LeMay (a sports car fan who once owned a Cadillac-Aillard) stepped up with an offer to make airfields available—at a price. The price was reasonable: all proceeds to an Air Force benefit fund . . ."

Smith Family Returning Home

Mrs. Wilma E. Smith, wife of Harold R. Smith, 607 Shriver Avenue, who was Maryland's entry in the "Mrs. America" contest last week in Florida was preparing to return to the Queen City with her husband and three children after the contest wound up Saturday.

Although she did not walk off with the nation's title, apparently she and the family had a wonderful time during their trip to the sunny South. Her first assignment was the preparation of a meal from a stock of canned goods and she chose to prepare a beef stew dinner.

Saturday afternoon she and the other 49 contestants appeared before the judges in bathing suits. The final public appearance was Saturday night (in evening gowns) prior to the announcement of this year's "Mrs. America" who is Mrs. Wanda Jennings, 28, a tall blue-eyed blonde from St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. Dorothea Smith, 26, of Plummerville, Ark., took second place, while Mrs. June B. Terrell of Charleston, W. Va., placed third.

City Gets Keys To Fenced Areas On Wills Creek

Mayor Roy W. Eves was on the receiving end of a key presentation ceremony the other day.

The Corps of Engineers presented the mayor a set of keys which unlock gates of a metal fence erected to halt trespassing on the portion of Wills Creek which has been paved in connection with the flood control project.

City officials have had a number of complaints that children have been playing on the fence which guards the channel—which incidentally is government property.

Officials said there is danger that children could be injured in falling down the sloping sides of the creek, and that the water in one spot is six feet deep.

The gates have been placed in the fenced area to allow access for workers and inspectors.

Art Wall, Jr., Wins Las Vegas Tourney And $10,000 Prize

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 25.—(INS)—Steady Art Wall, Jr., 31-year-old Cinderella golfer from Pocono Manor, Pa., calmly stroked a one-over-par 73 today to bag the $10,000 top prize in the second annual $35,000 Las Vegas Tournament of Champions at the Desert Inn Country Club.

His 72-hole score of 278, put him six strokes in front of Al Bessell, Grossinger, N. Y., defending champion and veteran Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill., who wound up in a second place tie with 284's.

Wall's effort won him 10 times the amount of links prize money he had picked up prior to this elite competition, limited to pros who had won PGA-open tournaments in the past year.

Sponsor Wilbur Clark, Desert Inn boss, gave him 10,000 silver dollars as the prize presentation following today's final 18-hole round.

Mangrum and Bessell copped $3,750 for their second place tie, but the New York entrant grabbed another $1,000 for the best scoring round of 68 today.

Braves Lose In 12th On Pendleton's Muff

ST. LOUIS, April 25.—Left fielder Jim Pendleton committed Milwaukee's second error of the 12th inning, muffed a two-out fly ball that enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to score the winning run against the Braves today for a 7-6 victory.

Eddie Mathews, whose two-run homer in the ninth sent the game into overtime, made the first error of the third extra inning, fumbling Rip Repulski's grounder with two out and Alex Grammas, who had been hit with a pitch, on first.

Then after Wally Moon beat out a slow roller to third, filling the bases, Red Schoendienst lifted a fly ball to left center, Andy Pafko, the center fielder, and Pendleton hesitated before Pendleton caught, then dropped the ball while Grammas scored the decisive tally.

The Braves argued Pendleton held the ball long enough, but the umpires disagreed.

Canal Parkway Decision To Be Completed Soon

Secretary McKay Writes County Man

A decision about construction of the C&O Canal Parkway will be made soon, Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay has disclosed in a letter just received by an Allegany County resident.

Secretary McKay's letter to Ross F. Shaw of Oldtown is an answer to one the Oldtown man directed March 6 to President Eisenhower urging construction of the parkway.

The secretary's letter dated April 23 to Shaw:

"The letter of March 6, which you addressed to the President, urging that a parkway be constructed along the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, has been referred to this department.

Aware Of Conditions

"The proposal to develop a canal park and parkway has been the subject of considerable discussion and publicity in the newspapers during the past few weeks, but a final plan for its development has not been crystallized. We are aware, as your letter points out, of the unemployment which exists in Western Maryland, particularly in Cumberland, and we feel confident that the program of the present administration will take every action within its power to aid such areas from economic distress.

"We wish it were possible to tell you at this time whether a parkway will or will not be constructed in the near future on the Federal Government's holdings along the Potomac River; however, such a decision will be made soon," McKay concluded.

Meanwhile, Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has sent Secretary McKay recommendations for making the canal area accessible to the public.

Report Cited

The recommendations came from a committee which made the canal hike last month, but were sent to McKay as a "preliminary report" signed by Justice Douglas as chairman. The committee included the Justice, who has opposed a road along the canal from Washington to Cumberland, and Robert H. Estabrook, editor of the editorial page of The Washington Post and Times-Herald, who had urged construction of a parkway. The conflict produced the hike.

The committee agreed, and so recommended to McKay, that the canal property should be preserved as part of the National Park System and developed as a recreational area with an adequate budget for maintenance and supervision.

The Weather

Ideal weather prevailed in the Cumberland area yesterday, with warm temperatures and cloudless skies allowing the city's outdoor lovers to take full advantage of the extra hour of daylight. Robert Golden, weather observer and superintendent of Constitution Park, reported that a large number of people used the park, with many of them having picnics in the convenient wooded area. Cumberland's high official temperature yesterday was 85, with the low being 57, while at 8 p. m. the mercury stood at 75 degrees. The humidity at 6 p. m. was 39 per cent. There was no appreciable amount of rainfall over the weekend, with just .14 inches reported on Friday and Saturday. Thunderstorms were expected last night, while today's forecast calls for cloudy skies and cooler temperatures, with a low of 54-60 expected.

DST Creates Usual Mixup In Vicinity

As usual, a number of Cumberland and area residents were a bit mixed up when they awoke yesterday morning and found out they had forgot to turn their watches up an hour in compliance with Daylight Saving Time.

Probably more than one churchgoer on his way to services met members of the congregation on their way home. And a lot of clocks around Cumberland were not turned up prior to the switch-over, adding to the confusion.

A spokesman for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad said the public has become "pretty well educated" to the DST, more so than in past years, and that passengers seeking transportation on that railroad "haven't been nearly so mixed up."

Quite a number of travelers seeking tickets at the Blue Ridge Bus Terminal were a "little off the track" due to fast time but were expected to get used to the changeover in a few days.

The Osgood Bus Line reported things running "pretty smooth." The ticket seller at the station in Keyser had to stop and think for a moment before replying to a telephone call asking what time a bus could be caught from Piedmont to Cumberland.

And the switch-over to DST renews the annual pro and con argument on the good and evil of the setup. At any rate, it's with us until September.

Byrd Receives Support From 2 More Groups

[By The Associated Press] Bolstered by support from two more county organizations, Dr. H.C. Byrd has turned to criticizing Gov. McKeldin while George P. Mahoney, Byrd's chief opponent in the Democratic gubernatorial primary, continues to criticize Byrd.

State Sen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, seeking nomination for attorney general on the Byrd ticket, said in a weekend speech McKeldin had set up "an almost certain" deficit of 15 million dollars in the next State budget.

Mahoney referred once again to Byrd's fiscal policies as president of the University of Maryland. He quoted Byrd as recently explaining McKeldin's record-breaking budget as a result of the "devaluation of the dollar" but now proposing to avoid such high budgets if elected.

In 1953, said Mahoney, the university's special fund operated at a deficit of more than $800,000. "Now he wants to try his hand at 'closing the gap' between expenditures and revenue," said Mahoney.

Sybert's criticism of McKeldin came as the Cecil County Democratic State Central Committee and a "harmony" group in Queen Anne's County came out for Byrd. The harmony unit also endorsed State Sen. Edward Turner for nomination to Congress from the First District.

Sybert said McKeldin had lopped about 15 million of the money which might have been available for the next state budget by:

1. Advancing the collection date of five million dollars in gross receipts taxes, making two collections available for the next fiscal year but none for fiscal 1956-57.
2. Spending three million dollars of surplus left by former Gov. William Preston Lane's administration.
3. Reallocating 1 1/2-million in unspent previous appropriations.
4. Submitting a budget which includes five million dollars for new minimum pay increases for school teachers.

Fire Scorches Timberland On Wills Mountain

Irons Mt. Fire Hearing Slated

About two acres of second-growth timber was destroyed by fire on Wills Mountain yesterday afternoon. The fire, which broke out about 3:15 p. m., was under control within two hours and had been practically extinguished by firefighters of the district forest office.

Brook Bodkin, forest supervisor, William Slider, forest guard, and three other men, reported to the scene after receiving a call from Dans Mountain Tower.

They used a jeep with the spray pumper in fighting the flames. Shortly afterwards another call was received from Warrior Mountain Tower and 11 more men under supervision of Forest Guard George Brown joined in the fight.

Bodkin, according to William H. Johnson, district forester, questioned several people who were in the area of the blaze. The cause of the fire was not known, Johnson added.

The blaze was confined to the west side of Wills Mountain. Meanwhile, Charles Thompson, RD 2, city, will be given a hearing tomorrow at 10 a. m. before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason, in conjunction with the forest fire which destroyed 100 acres of young timber April 21 in the Wildcat Hollow section of Irons Mountain.

Two homes were endangered in the afternoon blaze, which was brought under control by members of three volunteer fire companies and workers of the forestry department.

Bodkin said Thompson allegedly set a brush fire and allowed it to get out of control.

Pollack Trial Will Commence This Morning

James H. (Jack) Pollack, Baltimore Democratic leader, will go on trial in Allegany County Circuit Court at 9:15 a. m. today on a charge of trying to obstruct justice.

His case was transferred here after defense counsel successfully contended he could not obtain a fair trial in Baltimore.

Pollack is accused of trying to influence testimony of two witnesses in their own morals trials in Baltimore.

State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro of Baltimore will be the chief prosecutor here, assisted by members of his staff and State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher of Allegany County. G. C. A. Anderson of Baltimore is chief defense counsel with William A. Gunter assisting him as local counsel.

It is expected that Associate Judges George Henderson and Morgan C. Harris jointly will preside.

She sustained an injury to her right arm when her bicycle struck a truck owned by Richard Klavuhn, 15 Schiller Terrace.

Everett Has 'Smallest' US Railroad

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP)—A group of business men from nearby Everett, Pa., are operating what they believe is the smallest railroad in the nation.

The businessmen, headed by Frank E. Steele, went to work after a U. S. District Court ordered the old Huntingdon and Broad Top Railroad abandoned. It was Everett's only rail connection with the big Pennsylvania Railroad.

Steele and his fellow townsmen went to work to solve the community problem. They incorporated and leased a section of the H. & B. T. track. The new line is known as the Everett railroad. The Everett runs from Tatesville to Mount Dallas where it connects with the Pennsy. Steele said the line is exactly four miles long. The new outfit made its first run April 1 and has been maintaining a daily schedule since.

The new company has seven pieces of equipment—a diesel locomotive, a caboose, two motorcars and three trailer cars.

The corporation elected Steele general chairman and named Oscar Foor president. The firm's general offices and only station are located in Everett.

On the job maintaining the pride and joy of Everett citizens are eight employees—a clerk, an agent, a mechanic, an engineer, a conductor, a helper and two trackmen.

Today's Sermonette

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday at McKendree Methodist Church by the pastor, Rev. George T. C. Bell. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

The Foundation Of A Christian Life

By REV. GEORGE T. C. BELL

On what foundation do we build our hope for the future? Not now on any philosophical deductions; these may have a certain assurance of strength to some minds, but they are not firm enough to carry such a weight as the hope of immortality. We build on the word that cannot be broken — on the promise of Jesus Christ. Our future depends upon the will of our Divine Creator, on the purpose of our God, and only He who came from God can tell us what that purpose is. Here as elsewhere, we have the firm ground of Christian promise. Our Lord tells us, from His own knowledge, that there is a future for the sons of men. And He indicates some features of this future.

1. OUR LIFE WILL BE ONE OF PERFECT PURITY.

There is to be nothing of the grosser element that enters into our social relations here "but they which shall be accounted worthy to obtain that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry, nor are given in marriage." Great founders of great faiths have promised to their disciples a paradise of enjoyment of a lower kind. Christ leads us to a hope for a life from which everything sensual will be removed. Love will remain, but it will be spiritual, angelic, absolutely pure.

2. IT WILL BE A LIFE WITHOUT END. THEREFORE WITHOUT DECAY.

"Neither can they die anymore." How blessed the life that knows no fear of interruption, dissolution, sudden cessation, and, more particularly, that is free from the haunting consciousness of passing on to a time when faculty must fade, or sadder sense of decline already commenced or even hastening to its end! What will it be to live a life that becomes brighter and fuller as the periods of celestial service pass away!

3. I WILL BE A LIFE OF HIGHEST HONOR AND ELEVATION.

"They are equal until the angels; and are the children of God, being the children of the resurrection." "Now are we the sons of God," and when the future life is disclosed our sonship will mean yet more to us—it will be life on a loftier plane, in a deeper and fuller sense; we shall be nearer to God, and more like Him in our character, and in our spirit and our faculty.

Now we have an additional support of Christ's inference concerning this foundation. To be "the God of Abraham," he argued, meant to be the God of a living soul; he whose God was a living God was a living man in the fullest sense. For God to be our God includes everything we need. The living God is the God of living men; the loving God is the God of loving men; the blessed God is the God of happy men; the holy God is the God of holy men. All the highest good for which we long in our noblest hour is guaranteed to us in that "the everlasting God" the righteous and the faithful and the loving One, is our God.

THE HERITAGE OF THE FUTURE IS NOT PROMISED UNCONDITIONALLY. Here are "those accounted worthy to obtain" it; therefore there are those who are not worthy and will miss it.

THE CONDITION THAT IS IMPLIED IS THAT OF A LIVING PERSONAL CONNECTION WITH GOD HIMSELF. Those who can truly claim Him as "their God" may confidently look forward to an eternal home in His presence and in His service. To us, to whom He has revealed Himself in His Son, this means a living union with Jesus Christ our Saviour. To know Him, to live unto Him, to abide in Him, this is life eternal.

Outstanding U.S. Sports Car Man Will Come Here

Cunningham Enters May 16 Competition

Briggs Swift Cunningham of Palm Beach, Fla., and Greens Farms, Conn., considered the ranking amateur sports car enthusiast in the entire United States, will be here Sunday, May 16, to compete in the second annual Cumberland Sports Car Races.

"At 47, Cunningham is an outstanding example of a vanishing breed: the millionaire amateur who devotes his time and money, his enthusiasm and his burning energy to the pursuit of a break-neck sport," the Time article states.

Best U. S. Road Racers

Cunningham makes automobiles (bearing his name) which are the only United States-built cars that can challenge, in classic road racing, the Ferraris and Lancias of Italy, the Jaguars of Britain, the Mercedes-Benzes of Germany.

In June, Cunningham will be out to show that his U. S. built cars can perform with the best in the world's No. 1 road race: France's famed 24-hour Grand Prix of Endurance at Le Mans.

Cunningham is coming to the Cumberland Sports Car races at the airport May 16 at the invitation of Dr. Benedict Skitarellic, local sports car enthusiast, who has met him in Florida.

Sponsored By Lions

The local races are being sponsored again this year by the Lions Club. Much enthusiasm has been stimulated for the local races by a group in Pittsburgh, who are forming a caravan and are driving to Cumberland the morning of May 16.

The Time magazine article about Cunningham explains why sports car races are staged at airports.

"At the critical moment, just when it seemed that sports cars were about to be driven off the roads again, the Strategic Air Command's General Curtis LeMay (a sports car fan who once owned a Cadillac-Allard) stepped up with an offer to make airfields available—at a price. The price was reasonable: all proceeds to an Air Force benefit fund..."

Smith Family Returning Home

Mrs. Wilma E. Smith, wife of Harold R. Smith, 607 Shriver Avenue, who was Maryland's entry in the "Mrs. America" contest last week in Florida was preparing to return to the Queen City with her husband and three children after the contest wound up Saturday.

Although she did not walk off with the nation's title, apparently she and the family had a wonderful time during their trip to the sunny South. Her first assignment was the preparation of a meal from a stock of canned goods and she chose to prepare a beef stew dinner.

Saturday afternoon she and the other 49 contestants appeared before the judges in bathing suits. The final public appearance was Saturday night (in evening gowns) prior to the announcement of this year's "Mrs. America" who is Mrs. Wanda Jennings, 28, a tall blue-eyed blonde from St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. Dorothea Smith, 26, of Plummersville, Ark., took second place, while Mrs. June B. Terrell of Charleston, W. Va., placed third.

City Gets Keys To Fenced Areas On Wills Creek

Mayor Roy W. Eves was on the receiving end of a key presentation ceremony the other day.

The Corps of Engineers presented the mayor a set of keys which unlock gates of a metal fence erected to halt trespassing on the portion of Wills Creek which has been paved in connection with the flood control project.

City officials have had a number of complaints that children have been playing on the fence which guards the channel — which incidentally is government property.

Officials said there is danger that children could be injured in falling down the sloping sides of the creek, and that the water in one spot is six feet deep.

The gates have been placed in the fenced area to allow access for workers and inspectors.
